GLOBAL HUNGER INDEX SEEKS TO TAINT INDIA'S IMAGE: GOVT

India's poor ranking in the Global Hunger Index is part of a consistent effort to tarnish its image, the Centre said

BASED ON ERRONEOUS INDICATORS: CENTRE

The Centre said three of four indicators used for the index are related to health of children— stunting, wasting and under 5 mortality—which can't be representative of the entire population. It said the fourth and the most important indicator— proportion of undernourished — is based on an opinion poll conducted on a small sample size of 3,000

RANKING SHOWS PAK, LANKA BETTER OFF

- The Centre said the index, published by Concern Worldwide and Welthungerhilfe, incorrectly portrays India as a nation that doesn't fulfil its citizens' food security and nutritional needs
- India ranked 107 out of 121 in the index, behind Pakistan (99), Bangladesh (84), Nepal (81), and Sri Lanka (64)

SC suspends HC order, Saibaba to remain in prison

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

FORMER Delhi University professor G N Saibaba will remain in jail as the Supreme Court on Saturday suspended Friday's Bombay High Court order acquitting the wheelchair-bound scholar-activist and others in a Maoist-links case.

A bench of judges M R Shah and Bela M Trivedi also rejected Saibaba's request for putting him under house arrest in view of his disability. "We are not finding fault with you (Saibaba) but finding fault with HC's judgment for not entering into the merits of the case and for finding a shortcut to decide," Justice Shah said.

G N Saibaba

The two-judge bench also noted that the accused were convicted by the lower court after detailed appreciation of evidence for very serious offences, which are against the sovereignty and integrity of India. "In view of the above, we are of the firm opinion that the impugned judgement and order passed by the HC is required to be suspended," the top court said in its order while issuing notice and posting the plea for December 8. The directive came on Maharashtra government's appeal against the HC order.

Seeking bail for Saibaba, advocate R Basant said, "He is 90% disabled... in a wheelchair and there are no helpers to help him answer the nature's call. Co-jailed persons are helping him and it's causing him stress."

Solicitor General Tushar Mehta countered saying Saibaba was involved in separatist movement in J&K, waging a war against the democratic setup of the country and arranging meetings of Maoist commanders. "He was their brain," he said. Basant said Saibaba may be ideologically close to Maoists, but is certainly not their brain. "So far as terrorist or Maoist activities are concerned, the brain is more dangerous. Direct involvement is not necessary," remarked Justice Shah.

Congress leader Rahul Gandhi, accompanied by Siddaramaiah, waves to the crowd as the party's Bharat Jodo Yatra enters Ballari on Saturday | DHEMANTH

BJP spreading hate, responsible for inflation, corruption, says Rahul

PRAMODKUMAR VAIDYA & KIRAN BALANNANAVAR @ Ballari

IN a mega rally attended by an estimated 2 lakh people in Ballari as part of the Bharat Jodo Yatra on Saturday, Congress leader Rahul Gandhi tore into the BJP-led state government accusing it of being responsible for serious issues like price rise, corruption and unemployment.

Addressing the rally at the Municipal Ground in Ballari, Rahul alleged that the state government is involved in various scams. He said the government has rightly been dubbed as "40 per cent government" as no work is being done without bribe. The Congress leader said that there are 2.5 lakh vacant posts in state government departments and that one should cough up Rs 80 lakh to become a police sub-inspector.

Rahul also spoke about the UPA government's decision to implement Article 371(J) for Kalyana-Karnataka and how it changed the lives of the people in the region. Several people got government jobs, lakhs of students got admission in institutions and more funds started flowing in for development works, he added.

Rahul attacked the ideology of the BJP and RSS and termed it "anti-national". He said the RSS and BJP are pursuing an ideology of hate and violence, which is an attack on the very essence of the idea of India. The Congress' ongoing yatra has been taken out to oppose rightist ideology, he said. P4

Kashmiri Pandit shot dead in latest targeted killing

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

A Kashmiri Pandit was shot dead in Jammu and Kashmir's Shopian district on Saturday, marking the third incident of target killing of Pandits in the Valley in five months. Puran Krishan Bhat was gunned down while he was on his way to an orchard in Chowdari Gund in Shopian in the afternoon, police said. He sustained multiple bullet injuries and was rushed to a nearby hospital, where doctors declared him brought dead.

Deputy IGP (South Kashmir) Sujit Kumar said a preliminary probe revealed a militant fired at Bhat. A team of local police, CRPF and the Army launched an operation to track down the culprits. A lesser-known terrorist outfit, Kashmir Freedom Fighters, claimed responsibility for the killing. It claimed it had already warned about attacks on Pandits and non-locals in the aftermath of the dilution of Article 370.

Waste mgmt: NGT directs K'taka to pay ₹2,900 crore

New Delhi

THE National Green Tribunal (NGT) has directed the Karnataka government to pay Rs 2,900 crore as environmental compensation for improper management of solid and liquid waste. A tribunal headed by chairperson Justice Adarsh Kumar Goel said the steps taken by Karnataka for solid waste management and for handling liquid waste were "inadequate". The NGT bench also comprising Justice Sudhir Agarwal and expert members A Senthil Vel and Afroz Ahmad said that the gap in the generation and scientific handling of solid and liquid waste had resulted in damage to the environment and public health.

Award of compensation had become necessary under Section 15 of the NGT Act to remedy the continuing damage to the environment and comply with Supreme Court directions, the bench said, adding it is high time the state realises its duty to the law and citizens. P5

ON THE GROUND LEARNING

Asia's first RDPR University offers courses to empower students who can further empower rural India

RAGHOTTAM KOPPAR @ Gadag

MAHATMA Gandhi's profound remark, "The soul of India lives in its villages", resonates through every pulse of the nation even today. About 65 per cent of the Indian population continues to reside in rural areas, adhering to a lifestyle grounded in tradition. However, as India progresses into an era of modernisation on par with its developed global peers, the country's villages are trying to catch up with the modern times, while preserving their ethos.

Spearheading this process academically is a unique university in Karnataka, which imparts learnings in Gandhian thought, herbal medicine, rural lifestyle, addressing rural socio-economic problems, and traditional vocations, among others. The Karnataka State Rural Development and Panchayat Raj University (KSRDPU) is situated in Nagavi village of Gadag district.

Plan in action

Rural Development and Panchayat Raj are the two main pillars acting as catalysts to change the country's rural scene for the best. Hence, a university aimed at heralding positive change in the rural areas of North Karnataka was envisioned.

The proposal to establish such a university was approved by both Houses of the Legislature in the Chief Minister's Budget speech of 2013-14, following which a state government-constituted expert committee visited several academic institutions, such as Institute of Rural Management Anand; National Institute of Rural Development, Hyderabad; Gandhi Gram, Madurai; Indian Institute of Management, Ahmadabad; and Tata Institute of Social Sciences, Mumbai, to come up with an idea for the RDPR University. The committee's vision through the proposed varsity was to create a committed, dedicated professional workforce to address various issues affecting rural development.

Accordingly, the university had its inception at Raita Bhavan near Bhishmakere in 2016, with academic activities beginning the following year. Later, a plan to establish a full-fledged RDPR University was mooted by the then RDPR Minister H K Patil, following which a new campus was inaugurated in 2018 by the then Chief Minister Siddaramaiah. This campus came up on 353 acres of land near Nagavi. The pleasant weather emanating from the Kappatagudda hillock nearby made this village ideal for learning, especially for the study of subjects surrounding rural and village topics.

Today, this varsity focuses on research, teaching and training in the realms of sustainable rural development through the institution of Panchayat Raj. Special courses include MA in Geoinformatics (Remote Sensing and GIS), MA in Public Administration, MA in Rural Development and Panchayat Raj/Cooperative Management, MBA in Rural Management and Agribusiness Management, MSW in Community Development, Rural Reconstruction and Community Health, M. Com in Entrepreneurship or Cooperative Management, Master of Public Health, and much more.

> There was a need for such an institution, which is guided by Gandhiji's idea of Gram Swaraj. We have also built a replica of Sabarmati Ashram on campus so that students can study and imbibe Gandhian philosophy
> Vishnukant Chatpalli, Vice-Chancellor KSRDPRU

According to Prakash Merawade, a lecturer at KSRDPRU, "At the university, we teach traditional Ayurvedic herbal medicine and use of charkha for making cloth as well. Students are exposed to practical experiences of rural problems, by getting them to visit the villages of Gadag district."

"There was a need for such an institution, which is guided by Gandhiji's idea of Gram Swaraj. We have also built a replica of Sabarmati Ashram on campus so that students can study and imbibe Gandhian philosophy. Today, KSRDPRU works on four main aspects -- education-based, research-based, training-based and area-based learning," concludes KSRDPRU Vice-Chancellor Vishnukant Chatpalli.

The KSRDPR University claims to be the first-of-its-kind institution in Asia, whose sole purpose is to create thought leaders and professionals who will work among rural-folk, bridging the development divide with their urban brethren, thereby blending traditional with modern in a diverse India.

LIFE AND TIMES OF THE MAHATMA

The KSRDPRU campus hosts a replica of the Gandhi Smarak of Sabarmati Ashram in Gujarat, which has been created by the KSRDPRU itself, and is located 10 km away from Gadag town. The ashram is located in the lap of Kappatagudda. The structure has five rooms, comprising a meditation centre, library, Nayee Talim centre, Gandhi Kasturba Kutir, and a kitchen. There is also a big statue of Mahatma Gandhi in the veranda, which can accommodate 60 people for attending speeches on Gandhian principles. The rooms also have a collection of photographs from the life and times of the Mahatma, besides a replica charkha like the one in Gujarat's ashram.

TRADITIONAL HUT FOR HERBAL MEDICINES

The university has also built a Parnakuti, a traditional hut to create awareness on Ayurveda. Students, traditional doctors and Ayurveda experts are brought here to share their knowledge on medicinal plants. Varsity staff grow Ayurvedic plants at Smritivana on campus. Parnakuti, which has been built using natural materials such as bamboo, eucalyptus wood and dry grass, encourages students to touch base with traditional healers, following practices like in the ancient times, when there used to be an Aushadha Vana, Rajvana and Panchavati Vana, where medicinal plants were cultivated.

MANOCHETANA COUNSELLING CENTRE

The university has started Manochetana, a free counselling centre for people who are under stress after the pandemic. Free counselling can be sought at the old building, in the old DC's office building in Gadag town. This facility is open to farmers, health workers, students, and people from both rural and urban areas.

'Farmers slow to adopt organic farming'

NAMRATA SINDWANI @ Bengaluru

FARMERS are hesitant to shift to organic farming from the conventional methods due to heavy initial investment and low profit yield.

Farmers think of the first two to three years when there is a decline in yield and shrinking profits, but in the long-run, it is as sustainable as the conventional farming methods and more suitable ecologically, said Ravi Kumar, association president, Kumudvathi Organic Vegetables Association, Neelamangala taluk. Ravi, who is also an organic farmer, complained that torrential rain in the state has incurred him losses to the tune of Rs30,000-Rs40,000 per month since August. He now wishes to take a pause to halt draining his resources for consecutive losses.

To promote organic farming in the state, a two-day 'Organic Mela' was inaugurated in the city on Saturday where 40 stalls from different farmer groups and organic companies were set up.

Dr Ramakrishnappa K, Jaivik Krishik society, president, told TNSE that there are only around one lakh organic farmers in Karnataka due to lack of proper guidance, knowledge, regularisation of markets, infrastructure, and no subsidies for organic farmers.

Renowned environmentalist and retired forest department official, Dr AN Yellappa Reddy suggested that the department convene a meeting in October for a master plan to promote basic technology and welfare to ensure social welfare for the farmers in Karnataka.

He said the the department should organise seasonal exhibition.

The government's initiative to promote natural farming should be bolstered as 90 per cent of the farmers still use conventional methods, he said, adding that the farmers should be made aware that for especially for food crops, chemicals are not required, and using it not only causes ecological imbalance but also health hazards.

Allow hotels to remain open 24x7, owners to tell Bommai

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A day after Bengaluru Police Commissioner Pratap Reddy issued a notification allowing restaurants and eateries to be open till 1am, Bengaluru Hotels and Restaurant Owners' Association has decided to meet Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai to extend the timing of operations of hotels.

They will demand that the hotels be allowed to remain open 24x7 as IT-BT company employees, drivers, those coming back from the airport, railway and bus stations, should not face a problem searching for food at night, said Krishnaraj SP, an executive committee member of the Bruhat Bengaluru Hotels and Restaurants Association (BBHA).

There are many people who travel to the outskirts of the city in search of food at midnight, and the demand will be placed before the CM to mitigate their woes, he added. Those working on night shifts do not find places to eat, and so the hotels should be open 24X7 at a few places. The details of hotel timings of other cities including, New Delhi, Mumbai and Tamil Nadu, have been shared, and the government will be asked to implement the same in Bengaluru, he said, adding that since the city police patrolling system is adequate in major junctions, there is no question of safety or chances of crime. Several hotels have CCTV cameras and sufficient staffers to work in three shifts, if the government approves our demand, he said.

Speaking to TNSE, BB Ashok Kumar, a retired senior police officer said, "It is a good idea to keep hotels open round the clock as city has a floating population. Police officials should be deployed for patrolling on major junctions to prevent crimes. They should not refuse permission by following old rules and regulations".

Reddy took the decision on Friday after the association complained that police were forcing them to shut down hotels before 11 pm. An order was sent to all police stations asking personnel to follow the order which was issued in 2016 that allowed eateries across the city to operate between 6am and 1pm.

Digitisation to be must in pvt colleges soon: Min

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

HIGHER Education Minister Ashwath Narayan said on Saturday that digitalisation will be mandatory soon in all aided and private colleges across Karnataka. The Education Department is working towards formulating an act to give more open scope for research collaboration and and twinning degrees, to promote decentralisation of education, he said.

Speaking at the Karnataka Education Innovative Conference (KEIC) 2022 on Saturday, he said that emphasis is being given on digitalisation which combined with unified data are some of the major factors involved in a world of modern education. "Digitalisation, which is being implemented in government colleges, will be extended to aided and private colleges also. Unified data and digitalization have become the decisive factors in the world of education and keeping this in mind, the government institutions are working towards digitisation," he said.

The government should have little to no control over the education sector, and there should be a more open approach, he said.

"Our objective is to remove government control on the education sector. We are also working towards implementing an act in this regard," he said.

Swaminathan's papers of over 80 yrs now public

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE life's work of prolific scientist Prof MS Swaminathan, regarded as the father of Green Revolution, including his unpublished writings and administrative notes, have been made public at the National Centre for Biological Sciences (NCBS).

His works spanning over 80 years comprise 48,000 archival papers, will be available for public research at the NCBS archives.

The gigantic task of organising the archives was led by archivist Venkat Srinivasan.

The papers include the works of Swaminathan while he was attached with various institutions and committees, as well as correspondences, research notes, media clippings, photographs and published works. Some of the material dates back to the 1930s.

"Swaminathan, unlike many others before him, was able to link science to society. I laud the dedication for the launch of a comprehensive collection of archival materials over eight decades of his life," said Dr Vijay Raghavan, former Principal Scientific Advisor to the Central government.

Dr Ashok Kumar Singh, Director of Indian Agricultural Research Institute (ICAR), said that the Green Revolution has had an impact on people's access to food and public policy, as well as changed the name of the Ministry of Agriculture and Farmer's Welfare, adding that it played a significant role in the enactment of the National Food Security Act.

Srinivasan credited MS Swaminathan Research Foundation (MSSRF) for the launch of the papers.

"Dr Parasuraman of MSSRF is to be credited for his painstaking efforts undertaken to preserve this material for future generations. Many archivists and student interns have worked over the last two years to catalogue and prepare the material," he said.

The papers had been donated to the archive from MSSRF trustees.

BDA to miss Oct-end deadline to desilt lakes

Work at Varthur, Bellandur lakes takes a hit, officials blame it on incessant rain

MOHAMMED YACOOB @Bengaluru

THE Bangalore Development Authority (BDA) is unlikely to meet its October end deadline of desilting Varthur and Bellandur lakes due to incessant rain lashing the city. According to sources, only 41 per cent of silt from Bellandur lake has been cleared so far. As for Varthur lake, officials say over 70 per cent of desilting has been completed.

Officials say the BDA's planned projects of wetland improvement, laying a walking track and island development at the two lakes will be delayed as rain is affecting the movement of trucks being used to clear the silt.

According to senior officials from BDA Lakes Division, there is an estimated quantity of 3233643 cubic meters of silt accumulated in Bellandur lake and for from since a year, the BDA has been able to clear only 1326050 cubic meters upto till May 7, 2022, which is only 41 per cent of the total silt. Similarly at Varthur lake, out of 1510305 cubic meters of silt, 1111880 cubic meters of silt has been cleared, which is 73.61 per cent.

Only 41 per cent of silt from Bellandur lake has been cleared so far | EXPRESS

Aravind, Assistant Executive Engineer, BDA, said, "We have deployed over 100 trucks at these two places to transport silt out of the lakes. Silt weighbridges have been installed at the two sites and GPS instruments have been fixed on all tippers in order to measure the actual travel distance. Transparency in the billing process is also being maintained."

While the total area of Bellandur lake is spread across 916 acres and the storage capacity is 8,400 litres, Varthur lake measures 439 acres with a storage capacity of 4,025 million litres.

According to BDA officials, heavy rain since May turned the silt into slush making it difficult for workers to load the waste into trucks. Also, water stagnation is making is difficult for trucks to ply. "We had set a target to complete the desilting work from Bellandur to Varthur by October end. Only after the rain stops and the silt becomes dry, we can take up the development work," said Aravind.

Other parts of state too should manage waste better: Girinath

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Benglauru

REACTING to the National Green Tribunal imposing a penalty of Rs 2,900 crore against the Karnataka government for failing to address the solid as well as liquid waste management issue, the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike stated that key takeaway from the verdict is that there should not be any construction debris lying around and sewage should be treated properly.

BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath said the order has come in the backdrop of debris found not just in Bengaluru, but also across the state. Also, the untreated wastewater also resulted in the penalty.

"Not just BWSSB, even agencies across Karnataka should deal effectively with waste water. The solid waste should be processed well and dumping of construction waste and debris should be stopped," he said.

While BBMP agreed that lapses have been committed in managing solid and liquid waste, the Solid Waste Management Round Table (SWMRT), an NGO working for improving solid waste management, blamed political intervention for the mess.

SWMRT founder Sandhya Narayanan said that no new waste management plant has come up since 2015 and in the last seven years, existing seven waste processing plants have faced a lot of trouble and stopped functioning a number of times due to protests, leading to waste being sent to landfills at many places.

Polluted Muthanallur Lake on radar of activists

The demand for cleaning Muthanallur Lake, which is spread across 500 acres has grown louder, as the lake is barely 800 meters away from the highly polluted Chandapura lake for which the National Green Tribnal (NGT) imposed Rs 500 crore penalty on the state government for failing to arrest pollutants from entering into the lake. According to Captain C Santosh Kumar, who petitioned the state government and the the NGT in connection with Chandapura lake, the NGT committee in its observation stated that sewage in municipal limits is discharged into the lake directly or indirectly through drains, and hence penalty was imposed. Kumar said Muthanallur is also among the worst impacted, and if probed, officials will be answerable. The lake comes under KC Valley project 2. "The lake fills up 45 lakes downstream in Anekal and Kanakapura. If this issue is not addressed, all these lakes will end up like Chandapura in the long run," warned Kumar, adding that the lake water has already turned black. ENS

The first change required is to set up a centralised single-window mechanism for planning, capacity building and monitoring of waste management at the state level

'Single-window mechanism needed to manage waste'

FOR the gap in treatment in liquid waste or sewage of 1,427.4 million litres daily (MLD), the compensation was Rs 2,856 crore, while for the un-remediated legacy waste of 178.50 metric tonnes (MT), the state was liable to pay compensation of Rs 540 crore, the bench said while determining the compensation amount.

"The total compensation comes to Rs 3,396 crore, or say Rs 3,400 crore and out of the said amount, we deduct the amount of Rs 500 crore levied as compensation vide order dated October 10, 2022," it said.

The Chief Secretary had to evolve an appropriate mechanism for planning, execution and oversight of the programmes for remedial action involving concerned departments within one month, the bench said. The NGT also said the first change required was to set up a centralised single-window mechanism for planning, capacity building and monitoring of waste management at the state level.

"It should be headed by an officer of the rank of Additional Chief Secretary with representation from concerned departments -- Urban Development, Rural Development, Environment and Forest, Agriculture, Water Resources, Fisheries and Industries," the NGT said.

"We hope Karnataka will take further measures in the matter," the NGT added. PTI

Yatra hits traffic near Ballari, vehicles pile up for 20 km

Movement of trucks from mines and absence of traffic cops create gridlocks at many points

AMIT S UPADHYE @Ballari

WITH large crowds from different directions thronging the Bharat Jodo Yatra, led by Congress leader Rahul Gandhi, several roads leading to Ballari witnessed traffic jams of over five hours. The National Highway-63 was blocked at Kudatini from 1 pm on Saturday and traffic continued to move slowly till evening. With the heavy movement of trucks from mines, the traffic went haywire in many parts, while buses carrying Congress workers were stuck on the outskirts of the city.

With the road widening work progressing on National Highway 63 and absence of police to manage the traffic, there were gridlocks at many points. Congress workers stopped trucks near Kudatini to allow their vehicles to enter Ballari.

By 2 pm, several vehicles took a U-turn and started going back as they were stuck in the traffic jam about 20 km away from Ballari. With no lane discipline, traffic continued to move slowly till late Saturday evening.

"We left Gadag early, but got stranded just before Ballari. There was no police to manage the traffic outside Ballari leading to chaos. The police should have anticipated the rush and avoided truck movement on the highway to facilitate normal traffic and vehicles going to the rally," said a Congress worker.

Congress had booked several buses from Gadag, Koppal and Hosapete depots for the rally, causing inconvenience to regular travellers. Many passengers had to wait for long hours at bus stands in Gadag and Koppal to catch buses to Ballari.

Yatris add to commuters' nightmare

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

WHILE Congress leaders and workers are trying to hog the limelight during the Bharat Jodo Yatra, it is the citizens who have been inconvenienced the most. Wherever the rally, led by party senior leader Rahul Gandhi, has passed in Karnataka, it has left a trail of frustrated motorists stuck in traffic jams.

It was no different on October 9 (Sunday), when vehicle users were stranded on the tolled National Highway connecting Bengaluru and Chitradurga for hours. The situation was made worse as one side of the road is closed for repair and widening works, reducing the highway to a two-lane stretch. With Congress workers travelling in buses, goods carriers, vans and other vehicles, it was further reduced to one-and-a-half lane. People, who were heading back to Bengaluru after a long festive week, were stuck in traffic jams that stretched for kilometres.

Bengaluru-Mysuru road too saw heavy traffic as vehicle were moving bumper to bumper with many people returning Bengaluru. A large number of Congress workers heading to Tumakuru and Chitradurga worsened the traffic condition.

Frustrated with slow traffic, many people were seen walking on the road to reach their destinations. Autorickshaw drivers made the most of it, demanding Rs 300-500 to cover 5 km. An auto driver said if he takes political party workers, he gets Rs 500 per person and he was charging the same from citizens, stranded in rain and traffic.

Traffic snarls were also reported when the yatra entered Chikkanayakanahalli, Huliyar, and Hiriyur.

GR Shanmugappa, president, Federation of Karnataka State Lorry Owners and Agents Association, said the rally has affected the movement of goods vehicles. He suggested that those planning rallies on highways should walk in 2-3 lines, instead of occupying the entire road.

ADGP (Law & Order) Alok Kumar, however, said the rally did not affect the traffic on highways as the police had planned it well. "Even on single-lane stretches, we had ensured traffic diversions. On October 6 morning, farmers staged a rasta roko in Srirangapatna which affected traffic movement for two hours. That apart, no major traffic snarl came to our notice," he said.

GADAG WOMAN DIES BEFORE ATTENDING YATRA

Ballari: A 36-year-old woman from Gadag died due to cardiac arrest as she was on the way to attend the yatra in Ballari. Malanabi had arrived near Ballari when she complained of chest pain and was immediately admitted to VIMS Hospital where she was declared brought dead. ENS

SUNDAY INTERVIEW

'GIM 2022 aims at building resilient biz ecosystem'

ASHWINI M SRIPAD

AHEAD of the Global Investors Meet (GIM) to be held in Bengaluru from November 2 to 4, Industries Minister Murugesh Nirani and senior officers from the department visited many cities in India and abroad to attract investments. Gunjan Krishna, Commissioner for Industrial Development, Department of Industries & Commerce, said they are also focusing on getting thought leaders, political leaders and business leaders to carve out the development agenda. Excerpts.

We are looking at telling the world to look at India and Karnataka as the destination for not only meeting the local demand, but also for exports in manufacturing, innovation and solutions in sustainability

Gunjan Krishna

How different will GIM 2022 be compared to previous GIMs?

In GIM 2022, what we are trying to do is not just the investments ... of course, investment is going to be pivotal for the entire organisation of the event, but we will focus on getting thought leaders, political leaders and business leaders to carve out the development agenda, because we are living in very different times right now. With Covid, we had seen a shift and we realised that there is a concentration on the supply chain. So now people are looking at where they can go friendly-shoring. Similarly, there is tension in geopolitics. There's tension between China and the US and the war in Ukraine. Given that scenario, how India and Karnataka can find opportunities during these times. Our theme is "build for the world." We are looking at telling the world to look at India and Karnataka as the destination for not only meeting the local demand, but also for exports in manufacturing, innovation and solutions in sustainability. We want to ensure that our ecosystem is resilient to withstand these difficult times.

What are the expectations from GIM 2022?

Karnataka is already a brand established in the global supply chain. We want other people to be aware that Karnataka provides a very viable option in the world supply chain. It can become more potent. We are also looking at forging partnerships with various business houses.

What are the challenges in attracting investments?

They need to know the India story. The challenges would come now if the world slows down. Of course, we are better off than other countries when it comes to our growth factor. We can emerge as the next engine of growth for the world and many economists are talking about it. Having said that if the whole world slows down that would have an impact on us too. That is something we need to see.

Will the prevailing political situation have any impact on GIM as polls are around the corner?

One of the major strengths of Karnataka is its policy ecosystem and we are totally governed by policies. We are one of the better fiscally run states. Whatever we promise, we deliver.

Bengaluru's image took a beating recently due to heavy rain. Will it have any impact on your efforts to attract investments?

No. Of course, we need to take corrective actions and we are taking corrective measures. Bengaluru is a strong brand all over the world. So it will continue to attract investment.

What are the sectors the government is focusing on?

Instead of just focusing on sectors, we have combined the entire thing under "build for the world", which will cover all sectors.

What is the status of clusters announced earlier?

We will soon announce an MoU for the FMCG cluster, while the toy cluster is in a very advanced stage.

Land procurement is a big concern. How is it being addressed?

We are creating a land bank and wherever there is a demand, we are trying to get land. Of course, there would be challenges, but working with various departments and with farmers, we are trying to ensure that we get lands available for industrial development. At the same time, the interests of everybody else is taken care of.

Seen the message of love and harmony, says Rahul

EARLIER, the Bharat Jodo Yatra entered 38th day on Saturday and Rahul walked along with other yatris for nine kilometres to reach Ballari city from Hulkund village, where he spent Friday night.

The yatra resumed at 6.30 am and party workers and fans were eagerly waiting to walk alongside their leader. As many as 20 groups of artistes took part in the yatra. Many supporters of the Congress presented various gifts to Rahul. Some even managed to get selfies with their leader. After walking for one and half hours, Rahul took rest in Ballari city before heading for the mega rally held in the Municipal Ground.

Somalingappa Mestri, a resident of Halakundi said, "I have been waiting for the past one week to have a glimpse of Rahul Gandhi. When I requested for a photo with him, he immediately obliged. It's the happiest moment of my life. I love the way he interacts with people".

During his speech at the Municipal Ground, Rahul also said that he did not see an incidence of violence or hate during the yatra. "In fact, people are helping each other whenever there is any difficulty. I have seen the message of love and harmony preached by Lord Basaveshwara, Dr B R Ambedkar and Narayans Guru in the hearts and blood of Kannadigas, which the BJP can never erase," he said. Chhattisgarh CM Bhupesh Baghel and Rajasthan CM Ashok Gehlot also took part in the rally.

What's the purpose of Bharat Jodo Yatra, asks CM

Bengaluru: Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai and BJP General Secretary and party in-charge in Karnataka Arun Singh on Saturday hit out at the Congress and expressed confidence that the saffron party will win over 150 seats and form the government again in the state. "The Congress' Bharat Jodo Yatra has no meaning. It is just another attempt to relaunch the failed missile called Rahul Gandhi," the CM said. India is united, and it is making rapid progress on the international level. While the whole world is facing economic recession, India has maintained a minimum GDP of 7 per cent, the CM said and sought to know the purpose behind the yatra. Arun Singh said the BJP will come to power by winning over 150 seats. ENS

A breach in the Tubinakere lake flooded the Bengaluru-Mysuru Highway

Rain, tank breach halt traffic on B'luru-Mysuru highway again

K SHIVA KUMAR @Mysuru

TRAFFIC on the busy Bengaluru-Mysuru road was again affected and normal life crippled due to heavy rain lashing the Old Mysuru region over the last few days. Weekend travellers to Mysuru had to come through Malavalli or Bellur Cross via Pandavapura as the Badanur tank between Mandya and Maddur breached. This is the second time in over a month that the national highway has been flooded causing severe inconvenience to people travelling from Bengaluru to Mysuru and further.

The overflowing tank damaged paddy and other standing crops in hundreds of acres, while service roads on the highway had 4 ft of water for over 2 km. Officials put up sandbags and diverted water gushing towards the highway, managing to restore the normal traffic movement by Saturday evening.

District in-charge minister K Gopalaiah visited the breached Budanaur tank and directed officials to strengthen the bund. He asked them to assess the damage caused to farmers over the last two months. The Lokapavani river in Srirangapatna taluk was flowing over the danger mark, flooding Lingapura village in Pandavapura taluk and forcing villagers to spend a sleepless night.

Aladahalli tank in Malavalli taluk too breached, damaging crops in the achukat area and flooding the Mysuru-Malavalli road.

Over 65 houses were damaged and crops destroyed in Hunsur, KR Nagar, H D Kote and Nanjangud taluks in Mysuru district. Farmers demanded that encroachments along feeder canals connecting the tanks should be removed to reduce flooding. In Yachenagahalli of T Narsipur taluk, around 150 acres of paddy fields have been damaged and five members of a family in Srirampura had a miraculous escape when the wall of their house collapsed.

In Mysuru city, Bogadi tank was overflowing and the main road connecting Bogadi was flooded. In Chamarajanagar district, farms were flooded as 15,000 cusecs of water from the Chikkahole dam was released into the Suvarnavathi river following heavy rain on the Tamil Nadu border.

Kore played key role in education, says Bommai

ENS @ Belagavi

"DR Prabhakar Kore is a man of vision who saw yesterday, today and tomorrow. Education and other developments took place in Mumbai-Karnataka region because of the Karnataka Lingayat Education (KLE) society and Dr Kore's vision," said Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai.

Speaking at the Amrit Mahotsava (75th Birthday celebrations) of KLE chairman and former Rajya Sabha member Dr Prabhakar Kore at the district stadium in Belagavi on Saturday, Bommai said, "Dr Prabhakar Kore would have become one of the tallest political leaders in the state if had given time to politics, but he chose to dedicate himself to promote education in North Karnataka."

Union Education Minister Dharmendra Pradhan said, "Dr Kore is a 'Living Institution' as he has knowledge of every sector. About 1,000 years ago, Lord Basavanna had worked to educate people and brought social reforms in the 21st century. Dr Kore is working to educate and bring social reforms. I salute Dr Kore's work," he said.

Goa Chief Minister Pramod Sawant said, "Prime minister Narendra Modi's dream of a 'New India' is being brought to reality by Dr Kore. Many students from Goa studied in the KLE institutes and are not just serving in Goa, but in other states as well."

In his presidential remarks, Dr Kore urged the government to construct a 'Legislators' Hostel' (Shasakara Bhavan) near Suvarna Vidhana Soudha (SVS) in Belagavi and make the SVS functional all time.

CM will give 'sweet news' to cane farmers, says sugar minister

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

SUGAR and Textiles Minister Shankar Patil Munenakoppa on Saturday assured farmers that he will hold a meeting with Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai soon to decide on increasing the Fair Remunerative Price (FRP) for sugarcane for the 2022-23 season.

"Farmers are demanding an FRP of Rs 5,500 per tonne of cane. This is to ensure that harvesting and transportation should not become a burden on them. We will give them sweet news soon," he told reporters after a marathon meeting with Raitha Sangha members.

On complaints of sugar mills exploiting farmers over harvesting and transportation charges and weighing of cane among others, Munenakoppa said he is likely to hold a meeting with the Sugarcane Control Board members on Wednesday to address these issues.

He claimed that both cooperative and private sugar factories have cleared 99.9 per cent of dues to farmers and only Rs 11 crore out of Rs 19,634 crore is pending. Raitha Sangha leader Kuruburu Shanthakumar said they have set a deadline of October 20 for the government to resolve their issues. "Or else, we will give sour news to the government by relaunching our struggle," he added.

We have set a deadline of October 20 for the government to resolve their issues. Or else, we will give sour news to the government by relaunching our struggle news soon

- Kuruburu Shanthakumar, Raitha Sangha leader

About 150 Raitha Sangha and farmer leaders, including Sunanda Jayaram and Sunitha Puttannaiah from Mandya and South Indian Sugar Mills Association president Sushma took part in the meeting.

Chaos in meeting

A verbal duel broke out during the meeting when some Raitha Sangha leaders objected to the presence of Kodihalli Chandrashekar, leader of another farmer faction, as he was allegedly involved in a scam.

Later, commotion ensued when farmers took strong exception to South Indian Sugar Mills Association (SISMA) president Jagadish Gudaguntis observations that it would be impossible to buy cane at at Rs 3,500 per tonne and sought a government subsidy to buy the machinery. Farmer Nanjundaswamy from Mysuru tried to throw a water bottle at Gudagunti but other leaders thwarted his attempt.

Farmers surround minister

Some farmers surrounded the minister soon after the meeting with their leaders squatting at the minister's feet. They alleged that the EID Parry factory at Haliyal cheated them in the payment of harvesting and transportation charges. "There was a report and the issue will be fixed by tomorrow (Sunday) morning," the minister promised.

Girl's kin kill youth after she ends life

BELAGAVI: A 20-year-old boy was allegedly killed by the family of a minor girl, who also committed suicide, at Kalakavatagi village. The boy was in a relationship with the minor girl. The boy was allegedly killed by the girl's parents by forcibly making him drink pesticide at a farmhouse on September 22. It came to light when the Bilagi police found the two bodies on the banks of the Krishna. The police found that the girl and the boy were in a relationship for the past few months. Later, when the girl's family found both of them in a compromising position, they scolded the girl, who later consumed pesticide and died. Her family members blamed the boy for the death of the minor girl and tied his hands and forcibly made him to consume pesticide. On the next day, the family of the girl packed both the bodies in a gunny bag and threw them into the Krishna river, the police said. ENS

Pinarayi was in the know of PPE purchase: Shailaja

Says kits bought at higher rates due to scarcity during Covid-19

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ T'Puram

IN the dock after the Lok Ayuta served her a notice, former Kerala health minister KK Shailaja rejected corruption charges levelled against her over the purchase of PPE kits at exorbitant rates during the Covid-19 period. The senior CPM leader further said the kits were purchased at a higher price with the knowledge of Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan.

Shailaja made the clarification a day after the Lok Ayukta ordered an investigation against her based on a complaint alleging corruption in the purchase of kits. Noticeably, the CPM leadership has not issued any statement supporting the former minister.

After inaugurating a cultural programme in Kuwait, Shailaja said the government decided to purchase kits at ₹1,500 each, though the same were earlier available for ₹500, as there was a scarcity at the time. "Officials of Kerala Medical Corporation (KMCL) had informed me that PPE kits would be out of stock soon. If we don't purchase them, our health workers would be severely compromised. I checked with the CM who said we should buy and store them, and at the same time, that quality should be ensured," Shailaja said.

"The market price of a PPE kit, which was earlier available for ₹500, then shot up to ₹1,500. I again checked with the CM. He said we should not bother about the price, as people's lives were more important. We had the freedom then to waive rules and buy materials under the Disaster Management Act. That's how a decision was taken to purchase 50,000 PPE kits at ₹1,500 each. We purchased 15,000 of them. By that time, more kits started hitting the market and prices went down. So, we cancelled the order for the remaining 35,000 kits and bought the rest at the market price," explained Shailaja.

Karnataka HC seeks details of convicts by Oct 27

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

The Karnataka High Court directed its Legal Services Committees to ask the Secretaries of the District Legal Services Authorities to furnish the details of the accused persons who have been convicted.

This was to know if the convicts have filed appeal, if those have been field by a private counsel or counsel appointed by the Legal Services Authority, and if free legal service has been provided to them or not.

A division bench of Justices Suraj Govindaraj and G Basavaraja directed the Legal Services Authorities to submit the details by October 27, 2022. It was also directed that the Registrar (Computers) design the necessary software to keep a track of matters where conviction orders have been passed.

"The right to appeal in conviction matters is an issue which has a bearing on the life and liberty of the convicts which is safeguarded under Article 21 of the Constitution. The right to appeal being a statutory right is required to be exercised in all criminal matters," the court said. The court also directed the Secretary, High Court Legal Services Committee, Dharwad, to ascertain and submit a report as to whether free legal service/aid has been provided to an accused who is before the court, and to verify why no appeal has been filed in respect of the accused.

The Legal Services Authorities Act has been brought into force, among other reasons, to provide free legal aid to all the convicted. In terms of Section 12 of the Act, the court said that the District Legal Services Authority is required to discharge such functions under the Act.

SPCA files plaint against Sadhguru over snake display

ENS @ Bengaluru

MEMBERS of Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (SPCA) on Saturday complained to the Chikkaballapura deputy conservator of forests against Sadhguru Jaggi Vasudev, founder of Isha Foundation, alleging illegal transportation, trapping and display of a rat snake.

The snake is listed under Schedule-2 of the Wildlife Protection Act, 1972. In the complaint, the members alleged that Sadhguru displayed the snake on October 9 and 10 and the reptile is yet to be handed over to the forest department officials. SPCA board member Prithvi Raj CN said that they are not against Sadhguru, but he should be responsible as he has many followers and it should not be taken as an inspiration for others to do the same.

Reacting to this, Ramesh BR, DCF, Chikkaballapura, said that an inquiry has been initiated. Some photographs have also reached the department which when investigated was found to be from Coimbatore, he said. If needed, Sadguru will also be called for an explanation, he added.

INFLATION AND THE RISKS OF FREEBIE POLITICS

THE THIRD EYE

SHANKKAR AIYAR
Author of The Gated Republic, Aadhaar: A Biometric History of India's 12 Digit Revolution, and Accidental India
shankkar.aiyar@gmail.com

THERE is nothing quite like context – and a change in geographic location -- to bring home realities. This June, the Reserve Bank of India invoked images from Sri Lanka to highlight the rising risk to the state of state finances. It said, "The recent economic crisis in neighbouring Sri Lanka is a reminder of the critical importance of public debt sustainability." The reference drew derisive, dismissive commentary. India, after all, is not Sri Lanka.

Cut to October, to the United Kingdom. The imagery and 'critical importance of public debt sustainability' is all too real and visible in the headlines on the chaos in Britain. The UK economy, which saw the appointment of the fourth Chancellor in four months is the live laboratory, of a crisis which threatens global financial stability.

The crux is the melding of the cause and consequence of rising inflation. Developed countries are pumping more and more money to protect their people from rising costs, even as the central banks try to draw out excess money to bring down inflation. As interest rates rise, the balance is tougher to negotiate. The cauldron of competing crises is occupying global attention and has dominated debate at the annual IMF and the World Bank meetings in Washington.

There is no let up. This week saw consumer price inflation rise higher than expected in the United States derailing theories of peak inflation. In India, too, CPI spiked to 7.41 per cent in September from 7 per cent. Central banks have but one blunt instrument to lower inflation-- and higher interest rates are triggering consequences represented by what is now called the cost of living crisis.

The sceptre of risks holds lessons for India. It illuminates the need to contain the build-up of deficits and debt driven up by competitive populism. In Gujarat, the Aam Aadmi Party promises free electricity up to 300 units per month, an unemployment allowance of ₹3,000 and ₹1,000 allowance for women and a monthly stipend for new lawyers besides free health care and education. The Congress is luring voters with free electricity, farm loan waivers of ₹3 lakh, LPG cylinder at ₹500, ₹4 lakh to the kin of those who died during the Covid-19 pandemic and more. The list of freebies is similar and long for voters of Himachal Pradesh.

The expansion of political intervention is not limited to poll-bound states. The government in Telangana, which initiated the idea of income support for farmers resulting in a national programme, has initiated an ambitious plan for Dalit families in the state. The Dalit Bandhu Scheme provides a one-time grant of ₹10 lakh to families, with no conditions for collateral, to start a business. States have also wooed government employees with the promise of reinstating the old pension scheme.

Indeed the expansion of promise politics – targeting specific voting classes, from the unemployed to the aged, across over 15 states – is visible in the expanding list of schemes and in data on fiscal conduct of states. And no political party can claim innocence. There is no disputing the distress at the bottom of the pyramid. As this column observed, the critical factor is the need to align public expenditure with a public and not political purpose.

There is also the question of affordability. The RBI report reveals that 'the slowdown in own tax revenue, a high share of committed expenditure and rising subsidy burden' renders the level of debt in many states unsustainable. It is instructive to note that the freebie phenomenon is expanding even as the Supreme Court is examining the issue and has set up a bench to review its 2013 judgement. While the outcome is awaited, at the very least, India will get to know the extent of interventions and their impact on essential services such as health and education. Political impulse and urges carry a price. While India is better placed than most economies, it is scarcely immune to global inflation and slowdown. The persistence of inflation in the United States suggests the US Federal Reserve will raise interest rates by at least 1.5 per cent.

This makes the dollar stronger, makes imports more expensive, impacts flows into emerging economies and aggravates the cost of living. The rising cost of capital will lower the pace of growth. Already both the IMF and the World Bank estimates have trimmed 2023 growth for all major economies, including India.

History is witness to the fact that macroeconomic crises in India nearly always emerge at the intersection of fiscal and current account deficits. The rise of the US dollar has dented the value of the rupee to 82.30 per dollar, and the current account deficit is hovering at over 3.5 per cent. Already the yield on the 10-year government bond is 7.42 per cent. As the RBI is forced to respond to rate hikes in the US, the cost of money at home will impact consumption and growth.

Stability rests on effective management of debt to enable growth. The rise of freebie politics -- promises of unquantified, unallocated expenditures for securing votes – threatens the fragile state of India's balance sheet. It is imperative for the political class to recognize the price India may end up paying for their profligacy.

ENERGY CRISIS IN EUROPEAN WINTER

OPINION

ASHOK SAJJANHAR
Former ambassador of India to Kazakhstan, Sweden and Latvia

THE Russia-Ukraine conflict, euphemistically called a "special military operation" by Russia when it launched the offensive over seven months ago, was not expected to last more than a few days or weeks. The fact that Ukraine has withstood the onslaught of the mighty Russian army, albeit with the support of armaments generously provided by the West, chiefly the USA, has come not only as a rude shock to Russia but also as a huge surprise to the world.

The world, particularly the developing countries in Asia, Africa and Latin America, is suffering heavily due to the disruption in supply chains, shortages and high prices of energy, food and fertilizers.

Europe has also been severely impacted because of its heavy dependence on Russia for its energy requirements.

Europe is the biggest purchaser of Russian crude, receiving 138 million tons in 2020 out of Russia's total exports of 260 million tons — or 53%. Europe imports almost all of its crude and gets a quarter of its supply from Russia. In theory, Europe could replace those barrels from suppliers in the Middle East, whose exports now mostly go to Asia, and source oil from the United States, Latin America and Africa. But it would take time for global markets to make that adjustment.

Russian gas makes up around a third of all natural gas used in Europe. Among the continent's major economies, Germany imports around half of its gas from Russia, while France obtains a quarter of its supply from the country. According to the latest available data, it relies more heavily on Norway. Italy would also be among the most impacted major economies at a 46% reliance on Russian gas. On the other hand, the UK draws half its gas supply from domestic sources and imports mostly from Norway and Qatar. Gas used in Spain also comes from different locations, the biggest trade partners being Algeria and the United States.

Some smaller countries in Europe rely exclusively on Russian gas, namely North Macedonia, Bosnia and Herzegovina, and Moldova. Dependence also exceeds 90% of the gas supply in Finland and Latvia.

It's much more difficult to find alternative sources of natural gas because it is delivered mainly by pipelines. It is easier to find other sources for oil, which mostly moves by tankers and is traded globally.

Much of the Russian gas is exported via Nord Stream I pipeline. Capacity was expected to double early this year with the operationalization of the second pipeline—Nord Stream 2. However, before the second pipeline could start functioning, Germany halted its certification on 22nd February in response to the Russian decision to recognize the independence of the Donetsk and Luhansk People's Republics.

At the beginning of the conflict, Europe was struggling to find ways to stop paying $850 million a day to Russia for its energy supply, viz. $450 million a day for oil and $400 million per day for natural gas. EU leaders realized that reversing decades of dependence on Russian oil and gas is not a simple matter.

Reducing Europe's dependence on Russian gas has been widely discussed for the past 15 years by EU leaders in Brussels. Despite alarm bells from a January 2009 crisis that led to the disruption of Russian gas transiting through Ukraine for two weeks and Russia's annexation of Crimea in 2014, Europe has not stemmed natural gas imports from Russia. In contrast, Russian gas deliveries to Europe increased post-2014. Europe also started importing Russian LNG in 2017.

Today Europe is struggling to contain an energy crisis that could lead to rolling blackouts, shuttered factories and a deep economic recession. Russia has choked off the supplies of cheap natural gas used by the continent for years to run industries, generate electricity and heat homes.

The crisis deepened over recent weeks when Russia's state-owned exporter Gazprom closed Nord Stream I, the main pipeline carrying gas to Germany, blaming an oil leak and claiming the problem could not be fixed because of wide-ranging sanctions restricting the supply of spares and equipment to Russia. European officials claim that this represents the weaponization of energy by Russia, which the latter vehemently denies. Europe is, however, convinced that this is energy blackmail aimed at pressurizing and dividing the EU for its support to Ukraine against Russia's invasion. To compound matters further, both Nord Stream I and II have developed leaks ostensibly due to sabotage which has made them unusable for the transportation of gas to Europe.

To effectively confront this challenge, Europe has lined up all the alternative gas supplies it could: shipments of liquefied natural gas from the United States and more pipeline gas from Norway and Azerbaijan. Germany is keeping coal plants in operation that it was going to shutter to reduce greenhouse gas emissions. It is also keeping the option of reactivating two nuclear plants it was set to close. EU has approved a plan to reduce gas use by 15% by next March, roughly the amount experts say will need to make up for the loss of Russian gas. Yet those conservation measures are voluntary in member countries for now.

National governments have approved a raft of measures: bailouts for utilities forced to pay exorbitant prices for Russian gas, cash for hard-hit households and tax breaks. For example, Germany has approved a third support package with Euros 65 billion ($64.3 billion) in aid for consumers. Such spending will add to national deficits but soften the downturn that economists predict for the coming six months.

More steps are coming. EU Commission President says a new proposal will include a price cap on natural gas and measures that could decouple the price of electricity from gas.

Perhaps most important, in the short term, Europe has managed to fill 85% of its storage for winter with the help of LNG and diminished consumption because of high prices. Storage levels have kept rising even after the Nord Stream 1 cutoff. Partly as a result, gas prices have fallen to their pre-cutoff level, although they are still painfully high.

The next half year is destined to be particularly challenging for Europe, not only in the battlefields of Ukraine but also in the hearths and industries across the continent.

RETICENCE IN HDI RANKINGS

BIBEK DEBROY
Chairman, Economic Advisory Council to the PM

IN the last column (1st October), I mentioned HDI (human development index), the core measure used by UNDP's Human Development Report (HDR) since 1990. Since 1990, HDI has gone through some modifications. Measuring human development and its opposite, human deprivation, is inherently subjective. There are implicit value judgements, even if we do not always recognise them explicitly. For instance, is it desirable to provide clean drinking water through taps? Most people will naturally and understandably reply in the affirmative. But what's the objective, clean drinking water or clean drinking water through taps? In parts of India, clean drinking water is available through streams or wells. HDI believes three strands can capture development -- a long and healthy life, knowledge and a decent standard of living. No one will contest the inclusion of these three strands, but many people will say there should be other heads too. In other words, HDI can be criticised for the omission, not the commission. When HDI originally evolved, there was a lot of discussion and debate. The idea was that there should be a simple measure, one that policy-makers can identify with. If one plugs in too much, matters may become unnecessarily complicated, and after all, various indicators of development are correlated with one another. But the simple point is the following. There is nothing sacrosanct about these three heads. They are subjective, not objective. If someone else comes along with another index, that will be as good or bad as this one.

A head like a long and healthy life is at a general level. One can think of SDGs. Those goals are at a general level. One must quantify and measure them. In the case of SDGs, that's done through indicators. Here too, a long and healthy life must be pinned down through an indicator. UNDP uses life expectancy at birth. Once again, one can ask questions. Why life expectancy at birth alone? Why not, in addition, a life expectancy of 60 years? That also tells us something about a long and healthy life. Why not some indicator of morbidity, in addition to that on mortality? Similarly, for knowledge, we have two indicators, mean years of schooling and expected years of schooling. Finally, for a decent standard of living, we have per capita income, expressed in PPP (purchasing power parity) US dollars. I have flagged two areas of subjectivity – first, in the choice of heads and second, in the choice of indicators under those heads. Don't get me wrong. Any such exercise will involve subjectivity, and UNDP is no exception to this principle. Let me now flag the third area of subjectivity, the construction of an index. For example, let's say India's life expectancy at birth is 70 years. That figure is not used as it stands. HDI normalises it, as does much such empirical work, to reduce it to an index that is between 0 and 1. In the world today, the minimum life expectancy at birth is 20 years, and the maximum is 85 years. (These are UNDP assumptions. There are countries with a life expectancy of more than 85 years, and, as far as I know, there is no country with a life expectancy as low as 20 years.)

In any event, HDI takes the actual life expectancy of the country (in years) and subtracts the minimum of 20 from this. This number is then divided by 65 years (85 minuses 20, maximum minus minimum) to arrive at an index for long and healthy life. Something similar is done for PPP per capita national income, with a presumed maximum of 75,000 US dollars and a presumed minimum of 100. Again, there are countries with more than 75,000, and I don't think any country has a figure as low as 100. Be that as it may, we have a long and healthy life index and a decent standard of living index.

But there is an additional issue for knowledge or education. There are two separate indicators here, and the arithmetic average (mean) is taken of these. We are still left with three different indices for the three heads, and a geometric mean is taken of these. That, too, is subjective. A geometric mean implies equal weights. Is it necessarily obvious these three heads should have equal weights? Finally, we come to the matter of data. Where do we get data to compute the indices? Are there time lags? If data aren't available, how are missing numbers computed? My intention is not to lambast HDI as a measure. It makes heroic assumptions and so will every such similar exercise. Therefore, when we look at HDI, we should use it to measure a country's improvement (or deterioration) over a period of time, where those heroic assumptions cancel themselves out, so to speak. Although everyone loves rankings, I would personally take the cross-country rankings, based on HDI, much less seriously. (In addition, over time, the number of countries also changes, and that, too, affects the rankings.)

Consider HDR for 2021-22. HDR, of course, has much more than HDI. In 2021, we were told India's HDI value is 0.633, with a life expectancy at birth of 67.2 years, expected years of schooling of 11.9 years, mean years of schooling of 6.7 years and PPP per capita income of 6,590 US dollars. That HDI figure in 2021 declined from 0.642 in 2020 to 0.645 in 2019. Given the Covid pandemic, a decline is understandable. However, in the middle of the pandemic, how did UNDP obtain data for the four indicators under those three heads? That's not very obvious. For instance, where did we get that life expectancy figure? Where and how did we get the PPP per capita income figure? The same point can be made about education/knowledge indicators. An ostensibly sophisticated methodology, albeit with value judgements, isn't very credible if it lacks transparency on sources of data. (Notes in HDR aren't quite forthcoming.)

Liquor and money flow

Every day we are seeing media reports about too much liquor and money flowing in Munugode by-poll to induce voters to vote for different political parties. Media also reported that political parties are also offering gold coins to voters for Diwali. Why is election commission silent and inactive ? India requires an election commissioner like T N Seshan who can discipline all politicians and political parties.

Split verdict

The dichotomy of the Supreme Court verdict on the hijab row underscores the contentious nature and complexity of this issue. In a clash between secularism and matter of choice it is sad that the fundamental rights for women to education has been trampled upon (Editorial: Matter of choice, but justice eludes hijab case girls, Oct 15). Today, being the birth anniversary of Late A.P.J Kalam, our former president, scientist, and a revered teacher, celebrated as World Students Day, we must shed our narrow-minded political and religious differences.

Dr Biju C Mathew, Thiruvananthapuram

Insist on uniform

Apropos of captioned editorial (Oct.15). Insisting on wearing students wearing school uniform is an inherent part of education in modern schools. However, attempts by certain girl students from Muslim community to wear hijab triggered present controversy. Such attempts are mixing religion with education. Moreover, wearing hijab is not essential religious practice. In order to ensure discipline in schools, wearing uniforms must be scrupulously complied with. Banning hijab in schools never violates fundamental rights.

Sivakasi cracker woes

Chief Minister M K Stalin has requested his Delhi counterpart to allow the sale of firecrackers (within permissible norms) as these are made in Sivakasi where women essentially depend on the fireworks industry for their livelihood. But, why can't the TN government explore the possibility of alternate employment opportunities to the people of Sivakasi? Why can't they do something permanently for the benefit of Sivakasi instead of shedding crocodile tears near the time of Diwali?

Ban palm oil

Our country is the world's largest importer of palm oil, and recently, even after the import duty was cut, the price of palm oil has climbed. If you carefully read the labels, you'll notice that most fast foods, crisps, cookies, and many bakery products all use palm oil rather than healthy oils like coconut and olive oil. Regular consumption of palm oil, can raise harmful cholesterol levels. Therefore, our government should immediately outlaw the use of palm oil in food products.

How would studying medicine in a regional language satisfy the standards when all the other resources for studies, journals, and research papers are in English? Regional language preservation and supporting students from those backgrounds are crucial, but the educational system should eventually prepare its pupils to compete on a global scale. We now live in a global village, and English is the connecting language of the age, thus it is necessary.

Since 2011 we have not won a world cup. We have not won an ICC-sponsored tournament also for a very long period. This time round we are starting afresh and with high hopes. If batsmen stick to their forms, then bowlers can toil hard to make the dream come true. We go in for a huddle before the start of a game but that huddle should yield results and not become a ritual.

MILITARY EDGE IN MARINE MISSILE MIGHT

In big boost to the country's growing military capabilities, India successfully tested a ballistic missile fired from its first indigenous nuclear-powered submarine, INS Arihant, on Friday

N-SUBMARINE

INS ARIHANT

INS Arihant (Arihant means Vanquisher of Enemies) is India's indigenously-developed designated S2 Strategic Strike Nuclear Submarine.

The 6,000 tonne vessel the first of the planned five in the class of submarines designed and constructed as a part of the Indian Navy's secretive Advanced Technology Vessel (ATV) project.

It was launched by former PM Manmohan Singh in 2009 and became operational in 2018. INS Arihant and its class of submarines are classified as 'SSBN', which is the hull classification symbol for nuclear powered ballistic missile carrying submarines.

OTHER SUBMARINES

15 conventional diesel electric submarines (classified as SSK) are also operated by Navy, and some more are on the way.

INS Arihant can carry 4-12 missiles

The successful user training launch of the SLBM by INS Arihant is significant to prove crew competency and validate the SSBN programme, a key element of India's nuclear deterrence capability. A robust, survivable and assured retaliatory capability is in keeping with India's policy to have 'Credible Minimum Deterrence' that underpins its 'No First Use' commitment

Defence Ministry

NUCLEAR DETERRENCE: The sea-based underwater nuclear capable assets significantly increases the second strike capability, and thus validates the nuclear deterrence. These submarines can not only survive a first strike by the enemy, but can also launch retaliatory strike, thus achieving 'Credible Nuclear Deterrence'.

COUNTRIES WITH SIMILAR N-SUBMARINE CAPABILITIES
India is now the 6th country, alongside China, France, Russia, the United Kingdom and the US to have nuclear-powered submarines armed with ballistic missiles.

PAK'S STRENGTH
Pakistan Navy only operates five diesel-electric submarines and three mini submarines of under 150 tonne displacement.

THE MISSILE: SLBM
A submarine-launched ballistic missile (SLBM) is a ballistic missile capable of being launched from submarines. They are also called the 'K' family of missiles, have been indigenously developed by Defence Research and Development Organisation (DRDO). K stands for Kalam from Dr APJ Abul Kalam. K-4 missiles has a longer range of 3,500 km than smaller K-15.

RANGE OF MISSILE
750 kilometers → 3500 kilometers

MISSILE TEST
INS Arihant on Friday carried out a successful launch of a SLBM. "The missile was tested to a predetermined range and impacted the target area in the Bay of Bengal with very high accuracy," said a Defence Ministry statement.

Govt officials running extortion racket in Chhattisgarh, says ED

AMIT MUKHERJEE @ New Delhi

STATING that a well organised extortion racket is being run in Chhattisgarh by the state government officials in connivance with a wide "network of agents" the Enforcement Directorate has alleged that bribe in the form of illegal coal levy to the tune of "₹500 crore was raised in 16 months."

The investigations have revealed that while the illegally raised funds are shared amongst the colluding parties and even given as bribes to politicians, part is also used to finance election expenditure, the ED has submitted before a special court in Raipur.

During this month, the ED conducted seral raids in Chhattisgarh and seized about ₹6.5 crore in the form of unaccounted cash, gold & bullion and various other documents. Three persons including an IAS officer were arrested under Prevention of Money Laundering Act. According to ED officials, investigations have revealed that collection of an illegal levy of ₹25 per ton of coal which is transported from the mines like South Eastern Coalfields Limited and other units and places were being done.

The ED alleged this illegal extortion of levy is being done with the "active connivance of state mining officials, district officials by using a wide network of agents which are stationed at the coal belts and maintain a close liaison with the administration. "The delivery orders are issued only after the illegal levy is paid. The extortion syndicate is run in a well-planned conspiracy," the ED alleged before the court while seeking custodial remand of the three arrested persons.

Investigations in the case reveal that Vishnoi with collusion of other government officials has created a framework of to disturb the pre-existing online process the ED officials said, alleging that vide two notifications Vishnoi made it mandatory to get manual approval of dispatching of all minerals by consumers by any mode of transportation.

This changed the more transparent system of online transport permits and made it mandatory for the miners/transporters to get manual NOC from the mining section of DM's offices, the agency submitted.

Outlining the modus operandi, the ED has alleged that the cartel led by Tiwari set up a wide network with cash collectors spread across 8 areas and direct involvement of the offices of district magistrates for illegal collection of levies for transport permits or NOC for coal.

"Till the bribe amounts were not paid and communicated by this cartel to the officials at DM's office, the NOCs were not given," the agency submitted before the court.

The ED further submitted that documents with the I-T (income Tax) department and a report shared by them (I-T) show that "in a period of 16 months more than 500 crores of bribe/levy was collected."

JUSTICE DY CHANDRACHUD

DELIVERY MAN OF LANDMARK VERDICTS IN SUPREME COURT

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

EXPRESS ILLUSTRATION

WITH Justice DY Chandrachud, son of the longest serving CJI Justice YV Chandrachud, swearing in as the 50th CJI on November 9, 2022, the Indian Judiciary will witness a historic moment as it would get its only father-son duo to reach the position of CJI. Appointed as SC judge in 2016, Justice DY Chandrachud overturned verdicts of his father in 2017 and 2018. Speaking for himself, Justices Kehar, RK Aggarwal and S Abdul Nazeer in the 2017 judgment that ruled the right to privacy as being part of the fundamental right, he overturned his father's ruling in the famous ADM Jabalpur case. While his father had affirmed suspension of a person's rights to approach court for enforcement of fundamental rights during an emergency, he overruled his father's views in the privacy case. In 2018, Justice DY Chandrachud, struck a discordant node by setting aside his father's judgment and decriminalising the offense of adultery.

"The law on adultery enforces a construct of marriage where one partner is to cede her sexual autonomy to the other. Being antithetical to the constitutional guarantees of liberty, dignity and equality, Section 497 does not pass constitutional muster," Justice DY Chandrachud had observed.

He is one of the judges who at times had stark contrast with his co-judges with a view to establish that he intends to uphold the values of the Constitution irrespective of him being the lone dissenting voice echoing in chambers of the country's highest judicial body. In the famous Aadhaar verdict, Justice Chandrachud while dissenting with the majority had said that Aadhaar was unconstitutionally passed as money bill and violative of fundamental rights. He had also dissented in a case related to the arrest of five human rights activists who had allegedly incited violence at Bhima Koregaon when the other two judges of the bench had allowed Pune police to continue their investigation into the case.

He has been a part of many constitution benches that have delivered path breaking verdicts such as decriminalisation of same-gender consensual sex by striking down Section 377 of IPC which criminalises consensual unnatural sex between consenting adults and recognising "living will" made by terminally-ill patients for passive euthanasia which have played a major role in strengthening the human rights jurisprudence in the country.

He has also authored judgments that have batted for empowering the women and breaking the shackles of patriarchy. In his most recent judgment, the judge gave a massive boost to the reproductive rights of women by ruling that prohibiting unmarried or single pregnant women with pregnancies up to 24 weeks from accessing abortion while allowing married women to access them during the same period fell afoul of the spirit of right to equality. A bench headed by him while giving legal recognition to the offence of marital rape for the first time also ruled that forceful pregnancy of a married woman can be treated as "marital rape" for the purposes of abortion.

NEWSMAKER

While striking down the criteria adopted by the Army for granting permanent commission to women had said, In yet another judgment, he had said women are subject to a patriarchal mindset that regards them as primary caregivers and homemakers and thus they are burdened with an unequal share of family responsibilities.

CJI-designate DY Chandrachud was also a part of the five-judge bench that delivered the famous Ayodhya verdict and also that that allowed the entry of women into Sabarimala temple.

Chandrachud studied law at Delhi University in 1982, after which he obtained LLM degree and a Doctorate in Juridical Sciences from the prestigious Harvard Law School. He became India's youngest lawyer to be designated as Senior Advocate at the age of 39 by the Bombay High Court in 1998 and thereby served as the Additional Solicitor General of India from 1998 to 2000. He was appointed as an additional judge of the Bombay HC on March 29, 2000 and took oath as CJI of Allahabad HC on October 31, 2013. He took oath as the Chief Justice of Allahabad High Court on 31 October 2013.

Kerala govt against case transfer to K'taka court

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

Objecting to Enforcement Directorate's (ED) petition seeking transfer trial of sensational gold smuggling case from Kerala to Bangalore, State of Kerala has told the Supreme Court that the probe agency has not placed any material to justify impossibility of fair trial in the state. The state has also added that the transfer will result in casting aspersions on the independence of the Kerala judiciary. Striking on the maintainability of the transfer plea, the state has said that the prosecuting agency cannot seek transfer during the pendency of the PMLA case before Special Court, Ernakulam.

"It is evident that the transfer is sought for the PMLA case to another State while the scheduled offence is pending trial is with ulterior motive to tarnish the Government of Kerala by raising baseless allegations and averments that fair trial is not possible in Kerala," the affidavit filed by Kerala government says. Seeking to dismiss the transfer plea, state has further added that, "It is trite and settled that mere apprehension of the accused or any of them being influential cannot be a ground to transfer. The petitioner has not made out a case of undermining public confidence in the fairness of trial. It is also trite and settled law that in a secular, democratic country governed by the rule of law, the appropriate State Government is responsible for ensuring free, fair and impartial trial to the accused notwithstanding the nature of accusations made against them. Neither the pleadings in the Transfer Petition nor the materials placed on record even remotely suggest that a free, fair and impartial trial is not possible in the State of Kerala. The ED, but for bald pleadings, has not made out any compelling factor or clear situation of deprivation of justice, warranting transfer of the trial from Kerala to Karnataka."

Sharing the news recently, Union MoS for railway Raosaheb Patil Danve said that 100% electrification of four zones was achieved in line with the railway's aim of becoming the largest Green railways in the world. D Y Chandrachud, SC judge

Recounting his experience as a junior judge in the Bombay High Court, Justice Chandrachud said he used to sit in a criminal roster with Justice Ranjana Desai (now retired) and heard diverse criminal appeals.

"Initially, I viewed the matters where women were often subjected to the worst of crimes and violations from a straight-jacketed perspective, but sitting with a colleague who had more diverse exposure to realities of gender gave me the necessary feminist perspective," he said.

He said that rule of law did not merely depend on the Constitution or legislation and largely depended on the political culture and the habits of citizens, especially young legal professionals who were present before him. "In a sense, all of you are the guardians of our constitutional and democratic traditions and to you is entrusted the responsibility of ensuring that rule of law is not substituted by rule by the law," Justice Chandrachud said.

Modi bats for regional languages in legal system

Ease of justice: PM says law should be comprehensible to all

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA
@ Ahmedabad

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Saturday expressed concern over delay in getting justice, saying it is one of the major challenges faced by the people of the country.

The PM said that a sensitive judicial system is essential for a capable nation and a harmonious society.

Since obscurity of law creates complexity, new laws should be written in lucid manner and in regional languages to bring in "ease of justice" so that even the poor can easily understand them, he said.

In his video message aired at the inaugural session of the two-day 'All India Conference of Law Ministers and Law Secretaries' held at Ekta Nagar in Kevadia near the Statue of Unity in Gujarat, Modi said that in the last eight years, his government has scrapped more than 1,500 obsolete and irrelevant laws, many of which continued from the time of the British rule. "Obscurity of law creates complexity. If the law is comprehensible to the common man, it will have a different impact," Modi said.

"In some countries, when a law is framed, it is decided in two ways. One is by giving a detailed explanation of its legal terms using technical terminology, and another is by writing it in the regional language so that the common man can understand it, he added.

"Therefore, while framing a law, our focus should be such that even the poor could understand the new law," he said.

The Prime Minister said many old laws from the time of slavery are still in operation in the states and urged the dignitaries to suggest ways for the abolition of such laws. "In this 'Azadi Ka Amrit Kaal', new laws should be made by abolishing the laws which were framed during the time of slavery," he said.

The PM also pointed towards reviewing the existing laws of the states while focusing on 'ease of living and 'ease of justice' for the people.

The PM pointed out that delay in getting justice is one of the major challenges faced by the people of the country, and the judiciary is working with utmost seriousness in this direction. "When justice is delivered, the confidence of the common man goes up," he said.

Explaining the local languages' importance in courts, the PM said an academic ecosystem would also have to be created for the youth in their mother tongue.

"Law courses should be in one's mother tongue. Digital libraries containing important cases should be in a local language," he added.

The two-day conference's objective is to provide a common forum for policymakers to discuss issues relating to the Indian legal and judicial system.

In some countries, when a law is framed, it is decided in two ways. One is by giving a detailed explanation of its legal terms using technical terminology, and another is by writing it in the regional language so that the common man can understand it

CORRUPTION

2 years on, absconding former SP surrenders

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

SUSPENDED senior Uttar Pradesh IPS officer Manilal Patidar, who had been absconding for the last two years following his name cropping up in the death of a mining businessman, surrendered before a Lucknow court on Saturday.

He was sent to jail on 14-days judicial custody by the Additional District and Sessions Judge (Prevention of Corruption Act).

Notably, it was during Patidar's stint as SP, Mahoba in Bundelkhand, when mining businessman Indra Kant Tripathi had levelled serious charges of corruption against him. Tripathi had even made a viral video substantiating his allegations against Patidar on 2020. A day later, news of Tripathi's mysterious death from gunshot wounds had surfaced.

A case of murder was lodged against Patidar and three others initially, on the directives of the state. Patidar would also go on to never appear before an SIT after repeated summons were issued.

Later, on the basis of SIT report, a case of murder was lodged against Patidar, later converted into a case of abetment of suicide. In the meantime, Patidar was suspended in 2020 on charges of corruption.

In Krishna's land, govt pulls down houses of the poor

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA
@ Devbhumi Dwarka (Gujarat)

WALI Muhammad Jadeja lost the roof over his head only two days before Eid to a government demolition drive in Bet Dwarka – Lord Krishna's mythical city – around 3km off Okha town, which is among Gujarat's largest islands with human habitation.

Jadeja's house was among 100 structures that were razed in the ongoing week-long demolition drive. Among the demolished structures, 33 belong to religious sects. Officials alleged all these structures were built on government land.

The demolition drive has drawn praise from Prime Minister Modi. Speaking at a public rally in Jamnagar a few days back, Modi said "Illegal constructions along the coastline have been removed. So much land has been cleared and Bet Dwarka's pride is restored."

The Bet Dwarka island has a population of around 10,000, mostly Muslims. It is known for Dwarkadhish Mukhya Mandir, a Lord Krishna shrine, a major Hindu pilgrimage site. Parts of the island form Ward No.5 of Okha municipality which the BJP won for the first time in the election to the civic body in November last year.

"Around 45 premises, including residential, commercial, and others had encroached on government. Cumulatively, around one lakh square feet of land has been freed from encroachers," says a police officer of Devbhumi Dwarka.

"I have four children. We lived in the one-room tenement that we built by investing our entire life's earnings," says Jadeja. "How would we know whether the land was illegal? Suddenly one day, the government bulldozer came and demolished our houses as well as our lives," he said.

The demolition drive has disturbed the Hindu population as well. Tea vendor Ramswarup appears nervous. "Muslims have been living around the temple for years. There are problems, which the government does not resolve. Pakistani fishermen come here and fish in our part of the sea. People in the area also rent out premises to outsiders, no one stops them," he said.

However, in Bet Dwarka silence rules. "I don't know where and how I would live. Who should I go to and complain?" asks Jadeja. "There is no house and no food," says Mariam.

It is not for the first time he has claimed of such 'supernatural' incidents happening to him. Last year, he had claimed that ghosts had attended meetings to listen to him and that he had interacted with them as well. In 2018, he had bemused everybody by claiming that he had left ghosts in his official bungalow.

Jamtara's cyber mafia eyes southern states

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

A sleepy little town from Jharkhand's Jamtara has emerged on the radar of cyber investigators from as far as Chennai and several other southern Indian towns. What has perplexed the police is the language proficiency of the suspects.

According to the inputs received by the Jharkhand Police, cyber criminals are travelling down south and other regions of the country.

"They learn local languages while earning through odd jobs. They return and take to cyber crimes by start trapping people of those states by speaking in their language" said a police source.

Investigators are astounded by the number of cyber crimes being traced to Jamtara. "Investigators from almost all states arrive in Jamtara to get to the bottom of various digital frauds and deceptive calls. The suspects are extraordinarily trained, and lure their potential victims into revealing their bank account details and later blackmailing them" said a senior police officer.

State cyber crime cell says thousands of calls are recorded daily at the cellphone towers near villages in Jamtara. Calls are made to random numbers in search of gullible victims

Modus operandi is simple: teams of suspects travel to southern states and learn the local dialect
So, the next time you get a call from 'ATM headquarters' seeking your debit card details, ask: 'Are you from Jamtara?" The caller may not respond

A few suspects revealed to the investigators that they had gone to Tamil Nadu, Karnataka and Kerala to learn languages being spoken in those states so that they could trap their targets. In one such case, the Chennai police contacted their Jamtara counterpart in a case in which a doctor was defrauded of ₹8 lakh.

"The Jamtara police arrested three brothers -- Shamshad, Iqbal and Shahbaz -- who were involved in the crime. During interrogation, the three cyber criminals admitted that they had gone to southern states in search of livelihood and learnt Tamil during their stay," said a local police officer.

After they returned, their local handlers advised them to use Tamil language for phishing, which actually worked well, he added.

Later, they decided to send different teams in a group of five to non-Hindi speaking states to learn their local languages, said the Jharkhand police officer.

It was found that the first such case was registered at Karmatand police station in 2017, in which six people were arrested. They had fraudulently withdrawn money from several persons in Tamil Nadu by using the local dialect. Similarly, another case was registered in 2021 in the same police station in which three people were arrested. They spoke Kannada language and defrauded over a dozen people in Karnataka by speaking Kannada.

"We are studying the pattern closely to deal with the crime more efficiently. The trend is definitely a challenge for the police department," said IG (Ops) and Jharkhand Police spokesperson AV Homkar.

As per state police records, cyber criminals are focusing more on high-profile targets in southern states.

FILMING IN KASHMIR

Bollywood returns to 'paradise' yet again

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

KASHMIR has given us some of the most memorable cinematic wonders from Bollywood. From Kashmir ki kali and Junglito the recent Raazi and Bajrangi Bhaijaan, the 'paradise on earth' has kept everyone mesmerized by its meadows, high-altitude passes, dense forests and snow-capped peaks. Among the picturesque locales spread across J&K, the Gurez valley was an exception to the shooting predilections. Not anymore now.

Prominent filmmaker Onir has turned to Gurez for his Chahiye Thoda Pyaar. The shooting is on, and it is going to be the first movie to be shot in Gurez, which is close to the Line of Control in north Kashmir's Bandipora.

Not long ago, shelling and firing between Indian and Pakistani troops were almost routine in Gurez Valley. February marked a major change last year; as guns fell silent following an agreement between both sides to adhere to the November 2003 ceasefire pact.

The crew of the film Chahiye Thoda Pyaar at Gurez Valley | EXPRESS

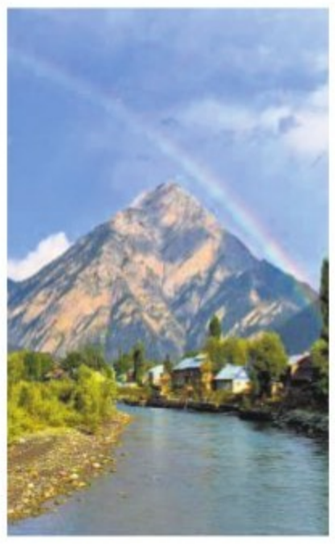
That has led authorities to open Gurez Valley for tourism. So, once a preferred infiltration route is now becoming the filmmakers' choice to shoot.

"Gurez is a very beautiful place and no Hindi movie has been shot here. I am very happy to be the first one to be shooting here," Onir gushed.

"There is nothing more empowering than the fulfilment of a dream. Somehow impossible is not a word when you have so many beautiful people supporting you to fulfil your dream/need (sic)," tweeted Onir.

Actor Akash, who is based in Kochi in Kerala, said they are shooting in Gurez, Bakhtoor and Bandipora. "It is a wonderful place. Honestly, I cannot grasp the beauty of the place. I don't think words or even pictures can define the beauty of this place," says Akash.



The union territory administration unveiled its film policy last year, promising various incentives to filmmakers such as a subsidy for shooting feature films, serials, webseries and documentaries.

CRACKER BAN

Fire crackers from Delhi being sold off in Punjab

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

THE ban on firecrackers in Delhi has created a new trade window. Cracker wholesalers in Delhi are now offering heavy discounts to counterparts in Punjab to sell off their stocks.

Delhi has banned the sale of firecrackers ahead of Diwali and Punjab had given a two-hour window for bursting green firecrackers across state on Diwali and Gurpurab.

The sale of crackers has gone up by 30 per cent in Punjab as compared to last year and it is expected to go up further.

Sources said that the discounts goes up to to 35 per cent above the existing discount if one makes a down payment in cash. "The discounts on banned high-noise bombs and aerial crackers is even higher as traders from Delhi have been calling us to buy out the stocks," said a trader in Ludhiana.

Official sources said the rescued animals and birds were handed over to the superintendent of Custom Preventive Force in Champhai for further legal action.

In September, 41 exotic wild animals and birds, suspected to be smuggled from Myanmar through Mizoram, were rescued from two vehicles in Kamrup district of Assam by the police. It was the biggest ever seizure of the trafficked animals in the state.

The animals rescued were 2 wallabies, 19 different types of primate species, two wild birds and 18 tortoises. The consignment was destined to Siliguri in West Bengal.

Thwarting the smuggling of exotic animals has become a new challenge for the police forces and other such agencies in the Northeast. Over the past few years, there have been several incidents in the region where trafficked animals were rescued by the police.

New Finance Min of UK warns of looming tax hike

Chancellor Jeremy Hunt admits mistakes in the mini-budget; pressure on Truss grows

LONDON

BRITAIN'S new finance minister on Saturday warned of looming tax hikes as he admitted to 'mistakes' made in a disastrous budget that still threatens to bring down Prime Minister Liz Truss.

"Truss fights for survival," The Times newspaper headlined a day after she forced chancellor of the exchequer Kwasi Kwarteng to carry the can for market turmoil sparked by their budget. The Times, Telegraph and other newspapers reported that senior Conservative members of parliament were still plotting to unseat Truss, possibly within days.

New chancellor Jeremy Hunt made clear he was ripping up the strategy that brought Truss to 10 Downing Street. "There were mistakes," acknowledged Hunt, whom one ally called the government's new "chief executive"—with Truss now relegated to the role of back-seat chairwoman.

Hunt said Kwarteng and Truss had erred in trying to cut taxes for the highest earners, and in presenting their plan without independent forecasts from the Office for Budget Responsibility. "The prime minister's recognised that, that's why I'm here," Hunt told Sky News.

"It was wrong to cut the top rate of tax for the very highest earners at a time where we're going to have to be asking for sacrifices from everyone to get through a very difficult period," Hunt said.

"And it was wrong to fly blind and to announce those plans without reassuring people with the discipline of the Office for Budget Responsibility that we actually can afford to pay for them," he added. Hunt confirmed he would deliver a new fiscal statement on October 31, agreeing on BBC radio that he had a 'clean slate' to start afresh despite Truss's prior promises. Agencies

Nuke-armed Pak 'dangerous': Biden

WASHINGTON

US President Joe Biden has said Pakistan is "one of the most dangerous nations in the world as it has nuclear weapons without cohesion."

He made the remarks while addressing a Democratic Party congressional campaign committee reception on Thursday.

Biden was speaking about his frequent interactions with Chinese leader Xi Jinping, when he said: "Did anybody think we'd be in a situation where China is trying to figure out its role relative to Russia and relative to India and relative to Pakistan?"

"This is a guy who understands what he wants but has an enormous, enormous array of problems. How do we handle that? How do we handle that relative to what's going on in

US President Joe Biden

Russia?"

"And what I think is maybe one of the most dangerous nations in the world: Pakistan. Nuclear weapons without any cohesion." The US president's remarks at the reception of the governing party were made in the context of the changing geopolitical situation globally.

Reacting to Biden's statement, Pakistan's Foreign Minister Bilawal Bhutto Zardari on Saturday said his country is 'surprised' by the remarks of the US president and has summoned America's Ambassador Donald Blome for an official demarche. "I am surprised by the remarks of President Biden. I believe this is exactly the sort of misunderstanding that is created when there is a lack of engagement," Bilawal said.

Rejecting Biden's comments, Bilawal said Pakistan was following the global standards.

"As far as the safety and security of Pakistan's nuclear assets are concerned, we meet all, each and every international standard in accordance with the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA)," he said in Islamabad. Bilawal said he discussed the issue of Biden's statement with PM Shehbaz Sharif and "we have summoned the Ambassador of the United States to Pakistan Donald Blome to the Foreign Office of Pakistan for an official demarche."

US general Mark Milley, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, had warned that a rapid withdrawal of forces from Afghanistan would pose an increased risk to the security of Pakistan's nuclear arsenal.

In his speech, Biden said the world was changing rapidly and countries were rethinking their alliances. "And the truth of the matter is, I genuinely believe this that the world is looking to us. Not a joke. Even our enemies are looking to us to figure out how we figure this out, what we do."

Washington's relations with Pakistan have soured since last year, when the United States ended a two-decade war in Afghanistan. Agencies

GERMAN MINISTER WARNS RUSSIA COULD USE 'PEOPLE AS WEAPONS'

BONN

GERMANY'S foreign minister warned Saturday that Russia could seek to spark division in the West through refugees, as Moscow seeks to expand its 'hybrid war'.

"This war is not only waged with weapons, it is also waged with energy and for that, we have found an answer. But it will also be waged with fear and division, and that is precisely what we have to prevent," said Annalena Baerbock at a congress of her Greens' party. "In this situation it is clear what will be next—refugees and not refugees from Ukraine... but because this war is hybrid, other countries are also participating," Baerbock said, pointing to Serbia which she accused of letting in planeloads of migrants without visas.

Stressing that there cannot be a situation "where people are being used as weapons", the minister said Germany was in talks with the Czech Republic and Slovakia on the issue.

Meanwhile, a missile strike seriously damaged a key energy facility in Ukraine's capital region, the country's grid operator said on Saturday as the Russian military strove to cut power in far-flung populated areas while also defending against Ukrainian counterattacks in occupied regions. Kyiv region Gov. Oleksiy Kuleba said strike on unidentified facility did not kill or wound anyone. Agencies

SL to use Indian credit line for solar panels

Colombo: Facing widespread protests over high electricity tariffs, the Sri Lankan government on Saturday announced that it will use an Indian credit line of $100 million to pay for roof top solar panels at state buildings and religious institutions. In August, Sri Lanka hiked the electricity tariff by an average of 75%, after nine years. The government raised electricity tariff to minimise the losses of the state power entity Ceylon Electricity Board (CEB).

12% wage hike for employees of four public sector general insurance companies effective from August 2017

FY24 budget likely to be tightrope walk for govt

Fiscal condition remains under pressure given additional ₹2.6L cr exp

SUNITHA NATTI

THE FY24 budgetary exercise has just begun and a quick stock-taking of the Union finances only indicates the need for a muscular approach to balance income and expenditure.

Revenue collections remain buoyant, with gross direct tax collections leading from the front of the queue. As of October 8, they increased by 23.8% year-on-year (YoY) to ₹8.98 lakh crore, led by handsome corporate and personal income tax collections. It's estimated that direct tax collections will likely surpass the FY23 budget target of ₹14.2 lakh crore by at least ₹1.8-2 lakh crore, thanks to higher compliance and a favourable base effect.

Likewise, indirect tax collections too will likely surpass the budgeted target of ₹13.38 lakh crore by a decent margin, aided by healthy GST collections. In the six months of the fiscal, GST collections grew by 13.8% on a three-year CAGR basis, suggesting widening of the tax base, five years following its rollout.

Yet, the Centre's fiscal condition remains under pressure given the additional expenditure of ₹2.6 lakh crore, primarily due to food subsidies of about ₹1.25 lakh crore, fertilizer subsidies of ₹1.15 lakh crore. The good news is, the government is mindful not to breach the borrowing plan and manage the fisc with expenditure control. Between April and August, revenue expenditure and capital expenditure maintained momentum at 35.6% and 33.6% of the budgeted levels, respectively.

While the Centre has been fairly aggressive with its capex outlay of ₹7.5 lakh crore, states too have an equally important role, but have been slower with just about 15-20% of the budgeted amount being spent until August. Interestingly, of the projected ₹6.92 lakh crore states' capex, 65% is concentrated among large states like Uttar Pradesh, Maharashtra, Karnataka, Tamil Nadu, Gujarat, Madhya Pradesh, Odisha, Rajasthan and West Bengal.

Government revenues

- Direct tax collections likely to surpass FY23 budget target of ₹14.2 lakh crore by ₹1.8-2 lakh crore
- As of October 8, direct tax collections increased by 23.8% YoY to ₹8.98 lakh crore
- Indirect tax collections likely to surpass the budgeted target of ₹13.38 lakh crore by a decent margin
- In the six months of the fiscal, GST collections grew by 13.8% on a three-year CAGR basis
- Centre's fiscal condition remains under pressure due to additional expenditure of ₹2.6 lakh crore on account of food and fertilizer subsidies

During the last fiscal, 13 state, including larger states like Karnataka, Gujarat, and Tamil Nadu underachieved their capex targets. Growth needs an equal push from both the Centre and states and given that states often go slow on capex in the initial months and spending accelerates in the last quarter, there's anticipation of a spending binge in the coming months. The fact that GST collections have been buoyant for both the Centre and states further raises hopes of government expenditure driving growth.

While the quality of expenditure is important, fiscal consolidation concerns aren't far behind. General government fiscal deficit is high at around 10% and worryingly debt-to-GDP is likely to remain above the pre-Covid levels over the next decade. It's essential that the government reverts to the fiscal consolidation path soon to ensure the impact on demand and interest rates are manageable. Market borrowings nearly doubled since the pandemic, which is unlikely to reverse soon worsening the bond demand-supply gap given the expected deceleration in the bank demand. Consequently, interest payments as proportion of revenue shot up limiting finances for productive expenditure.

Higher subsidies on fertilisers, coupled with fuel excise duty cuts helped minimise the inflationary impact, but its fallout can be felt in the fiscal math. Despite high nominal GDP growth, buoyant tax collections, fiscal deficit remains high and without any expenditure cuts, it may touch 6.6% of the GDP. Given the upcoming state and national elections, expenditure rationalisation seems unlikely, and fiscal policy will likely continue being expansionary.

But for now, the bond markets aren't squeaking, with the Centre sticking to the lower-than-expected ₹5.92 lakh crore borrowing plan for the next six months, as against the expected ₹6.02 lakh crore.

Any slippage may be financed through higher short-term borrowings and other sources such as small savings and cash balances.

Cough syrup tragedy

evokes cry for tighter pharma checks

GURBIR SINGH

IT is so, so ironical, and heart-rending too, that an industry mandated to lessen pain and suffering can succumb to the greed to make a few extra bucks from peddling contaminated medicine. But that's the kind of world we live in.

We are of course referring to the 70 children from The Gambia who died after consuming 4 brands of cough syrups made by Maiden Pharmaceuticals in its two Haryana plants. The World Health Organization (WHO) was the first to put out an alert over a week ago flagging that two contaminants – diethylene Glycol (DEG) and ethylene Glycol (EG) – could have caused the acute kidney damage the kids died from.

The WHO alert was put out on 5 October, but it took all of 7 days for the regulatory authorities– the Central Drugs Standard Control Organization (CDSCO) and the Haryana's state drug controller – to finally stop production at Maiden Pharma's Haryana facilities on 12 October.

Black record

Looking at the facts of the case, the company should never been around today. Maiden Pharma was blacklisted by Bihar in 2011 for selling cough syrup that failed local standards tests. It failed a quality test in Jammu & Kashmir in 2020. In recent years, Kerala state has pulled up the company at least 5 times for selling sub-standard tablets. In 2014, the company was among 40 other Indian pharma companies blacklisted by Vietnam for violation of local drug regulation standards.

Initially, the company and the Indian government took a cavalier stand. In a press statement, Maiden Pharma said it was "shocked" by the deaths of the children; but claimed it had "been diligently following the protocols of the health authorities…".

The Ministry of Health and Family Welfare shifted the blame to Gambia. "It is a usual practice that the importing country tests these imported products on quality parameters, and satisfies itself as to the quality of the products…"

The Health ministry is quite aware that Gambia and other African countries have poor testing facilities. Gambia's Medicine Control Agency executive director Markieu Janneh Kaira admitted it prioritizes checks on anti-malarial drugs, antibiotics and painkillers, rather than cough syrup. Had it not been a poor African country but a Western, Caucasian nation, the tune would have been different!

The deaths of the children in Gambia have only underlined what has been known all along: that our drugs regulatory system is creaky and sub-standard, and urgently needs an overhaul.

Fatalities due to contaminated medicinal inputs, and the failure of the detection and accountability machinery is legend. In September, the Chandigarh-based PGI reported the death of 5 patients from the possible use of contaminated propofol, otherwise considered a safe anesthetic agent.

Diethylene glycol (DEG) poisoning, what the Gambian kids died of, has had its murderous run in India earlier too. In 2020, 12 children died of DEG contamination; and before than there were 36 deaths in Gurgaon in 1998, again most of them children who had consumed contaminated cough syrup. In the case of Maiden Pharma, a mere check of the inputs before production would have aborted the process of production and export of the contaminated syrups.

Poor regulation

The poor regulatory system has been under review since 2000. A committee headed by well-known scientist R A Mashelkar submitted its report in 2003 admitting that the regulatory framework was inadequate. It recommended a well-equipped and professionally-managed Central Drugs Standard Control Organization (CDSCO) free of interference by state bodies. These recommendations have largely remained on paper.

DRUGS REGULATORY SYSTEM NEEDS OVERHAUL

Deaths of the children in Gambia have only underlined what has been known all along: that our drugs regulatory system is creaky and sub-standard, and urgently needs an overhaul. Fatalities due to contaminated medicinal inputs, and the failure of the detection and accountability machinery is legend. In September, the Chandigarh-based PGI reported the death of 5 patients from the possible use of contaminated propofol

On the ground pharmaceutical units find it quite easy to secure licenses and approvals as most state regulators are interested more in the licensing revenue than detecting violations. Again, on paper, all units have to go through annual checks for compliance with good manufacturing practices (GMP). But it is rare these inspections are scrupulously carried out and reports ever written out, much less published. Transparency has to be a vital condition – the US' Food and Drugs Administration (FDA) for instance makes all such inspection reports public.

Besides the human tragedy, these dangerous short cuts by a few pharma companies endanger the business prospects of the entire industry. For India, pharma exports is a $40 billion market mostly to Africa, South America, and parts of Asia. We also produce one-third of the world's medicines, mostly in the generic form, and account for 60% of the global vaccine production.

Scientists from the University of Ottawa and Maryland, in a pilot study, have pointed out that the tendency to sell sub-standard drugs by Indian pharma companies is quite pronounced due to the poor regulatory system in African countries. In fact, quality standards applied to African countries are lower than those applied in India. But things are tightening up. Nigeria's National Agency for Food and Drug Administration is now asking for all imported shipments to be cleared by approved agents before they leave Indian shores. If the government does not bolster its inspection and approval process, buyers are bound to turn to more reliable suppliers.

Amul, Mother Dairy hike milk prices by ₹2 per litre

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

TWO of India's biggest dairy product companies – Amul and Mother Dairy-- have decided to increase prices of milk by ₹2 per litre.

The Gujarat Cooperative Milk Marketing Federation (GCMMF), which sells milk and related products under the brand name 'Amul', has increased the prices of full-cream milk and buffalo milk by ₹2 per litre. While Amul didn't specify from when the price hike will come into force, Mother Dairy said its price revision is effective from October 16, 2022.

With this, the price of full-cream Amul milk will go up from ₹61 per litre to ₹63 per litre. For the half litre, the price will increase from ₹31 to ₹32. The same was ₹29 beginning calendar year 2022. For Amul, price hike will be applicable in all states except Gujarat, which is scheduled to go into state elections by the end of this year.

"Amul has increased prices of full-cream milk, gold and buffalo milk by ₹2 per litre in all states except Gujarat," RS Sodhi, MD, Gujarat Cooperative Milk Marketing Federation Limited, said in a statement.

The increase of ₹2 per litre, as per Amul, translates into a 4% increase in maximum retail price (MRP), which is lower than average food inflation.

"This price hike is being done due to an increase in the overall cost of operation and production of milk. The cattle feeding cost alone has increased to nearly 20% compared to last year. Considering the rise in input costs, our member unions have also increased farmers' prices in the range of 8-9% over the previous year," noted the Amul statement.

This is the third time in 2022 when Amul is going for a price hike. In August 2022, Amul had hiked Amul's Gold, Shakti and Taaza milk brands by ₹2 per litre, citing increase in an overall cost of operation and production of milk as main reasons. Milk prices were also hike in March 2022. Not only milk prices, other dairy products such as cheese, butter and paneer has seen price hikes in 2022. The triple rate hike in a span of just 7 months is a big setback for general consumers who already are struggling with high retail inflation. Milk is one of the most widely consumed food items in India and consecutive price hikes has the capacity to disturb an average household budget.

A Mother Dairy spokesperson said that dairy industry has been experiencing a consistent surge in raw milk prices, which has increased by about ₹3/kg in the last two months alone, owing to multifold increase in varied input costs. "Increased fodder prices and low rainfall in some northern states have aggravated the situation. We are, therefore, compelled to revise prices to support farmers and ensure availability of quality milk for consumers."

CSIR to build next-gen lithium-ion battery plant in Chennai

VAITHEESWARAN B @ Chennai

THE Central Electro Chemical Research Institute (CECRI) is building an indigenously-developed lithium-ion battery manufacturing plant in Chennai with the capacity of producing 1,000 batteries a day.

The facility is expected to be ready by 2024 at the Council of Scientific and Industrial Research (CSIR) Madras Complex at Taramani in Chennai.

The lifetime of batteries manufactured here would be 5 to 10 times longer than currently used Li-Ion batteries and smaller in size, Dr KJ Sreeram, Director of Central Leather Research Institute (CLRI) and CECRI (additional charge) told this newspaper. Both of these comes under CSIR.

CECRI aims to rope in private players at the facility to train industry with the technology and offer plug and play service.

"Basically, the technology being new, we want to demonstrate it in large scale to the industry, so that they don't have any difficulties in adopting the technology," he said.

These batteries at the new facility would be focused mostly on consumer electronic applications and would reduce import dependence from countries like China and South Korea, which are the leading players in the industry.

WATERLESS CHROME TANNING TECHNOLOGY DEVELOPED BY CSIR-CLRI GAINS MOMENTUM

As the leather industry faces stringent regulations in discharge of effluent and in some places opposed by the locals for polluting the land and water, waterless chrome tanning technology (WCTT) developed by CSIR-CLRI is gaining momentum. According to a senior official, it is increasingly used by the industry, especially in the six tanning clusters - Kanpur, Jalandhar, Kolkata, Erode, Ranipet and Ambur. Recently, 150 tanneries have obtained licence to adopt this and enrolling of another 40 tanners is in progress, the official added. In the waterless chrome tanning process, chrome tanning is carried out without water and addition of any new chemicals, without compromising the quality of leathers. ENS

The facility is engaged to develop a technology to recycle and reuse batteries. Dr KJ Sreeram said CSIR researchers are looking after extraction of rare earth minerals used in the Li-ion batteries. "As we have more manufacturing capacity, we will be able to source materials in India. Most of our beaches in the down south have Monazite sand, which is a good source of rare earth minerals," he said. CERCI is also involved in the development of renewable energy storage cells.

Currently, CERCI has a public-private partnership with the revenue sharing model at its Li-ion battery fabrication facility, established as CSIR Innovation Centre for Next Generation Energy Storage Solutions (ICeNGESS) and has a capacity to produce 100 batteries a day.

"We provide infrastructure, the companies would take of raw materials, manpower and all other aspects, he said, adding, once they start manufacturing, they will share a percentage of sale value with us. CERCI is yet to finalize the numbers," Sreeram added.

We're not up to the mark technically: Dennerby

The Indian team is not up to the mark technically, coach Thomas Dennerby on Saturday concluded after his side bowed out of the FIFA U-17 Women's World Cup in Bhubaneswar. "I know we are out of the tournament but still I am happy about the way my girls fought till the end. Our fitness level wasn't a problem. But we are not up to the mark technically."

The opening eight

As the first round of the 2022 Men's T20 World Cup gets underway on Sunday, a quick look at the eight teams...

SRI LANKA

The 2014 champions have momentum with them. They have one of the most exciting spin duos — Wanindu Hasaranga and Maheesh Theekshana — in the World Cup. They have an admirable leader in Dasun Shanaka. Bhanuka Rajapaksha could light up the tournament as well.

UAE

They have experience, but not against the top teams. UAE haven't played any team outside the subcontinent barring Ireland and Netherlands. They have a couple of good spinners, but it might not be enough to make an impact. If they manage to get a couple of wins under their belt, they would have had a good outing in Australia.

NETHERLANDS

Netherlands have a seam attack that could trouble the batters with the new ball in Geelong. Their biggest competitor is likely to be Namibia, and if they can get across the line against them and UAE, they would be pushing for a spot in the next stages.

NAMIBIA

They are the home of left-arm pacers. If they played four of them in 2021, this time, Namibia have brought five left-arm seamers to Australia. With the new ball movement they might get early on, they could light up the Group A games.

WEST INDIES

The Caribbean side have left out their best T20 batter because he missed a rescheduled flight. They have star players who could win matches on their own. Whether they will be able to come together and do it as a team will be the challenge. The biggest issue for them would be their death bowling.

ASSOCIATE RECOG-NATION

Lack of exposure in different conditions and limited number of matches against top international teams will make things difficult for these nations at the T20 WC

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@Chennai

ON October 17, 2021, Scotland, one of the leading Associate nations, struck a big blow for cricket's second-tier. The Scots engineered one of the most famous wins in the history of the T20 World Cup, shocking Bangladesh. From 6/53, they inched their way to 140 before edging the contest by six runs. The win once again shined a light on the International Cricket Council's continued use of the term 'Associate Nations'. A year on, though, the Associates have done little to shake off that tag. If anything, the 2021 World Cup in the desert was one of the worst performances by the Associates. Both Namibia and Scotland managed to reach the Super 12 but after qualifying for it, the gulf played out in the most predictable of fashions.

With cricket making an Olympic push — don't be surprised if LA 2028 hosts a women's T20 medal event — there will be renewed focus on the Associates this time out. Also, with the T20 World Cup expanding to 20 teams from 2024, a welcome change as the sport takes baby steps towards truly becoming global, wins in Australia will have a big bearing going forward (ICC are also doing away with the euphemistically named 'group stage' in US/West Indies in 2024).

So how do they stack up this time out? Considering how the two groups have been divided, there will at least be one Associate — UAE, Netherlands or Namibia — in the Super 12 phase of the competition. The fourth team, Scotland, do have an upset in them but their 2022, in a microcosm, indicates the challenge these teams face. They have only played two T20I matches this year (two losses against New Zealand).

That was referenced by their coach, Shane Burger, after the team had landed in Australia. "We haven't played a lot of T20 cricket as a group since last year's World Cup, but we know what we can do in this format and I have faith that the guys are going to step up to the mark again when the tournament proper gets underway," he was quoted as saying by the team's website. "On our minds for now though is the two warm-up games. We always have good clashes with the Netherlands while it will be a great experience for the boys to play at the iconic MCG on Thursday, it is one of the world's best cricket grounds."

That match on Thursday against the UAE was washed out. They beat Netherlands in their first warm-up encounter on Monday and the main protagonists of that win — skipper Richie Berrington (41 off 29), all-rounder Michael Leask (37 off 21) and spinner Michael Watt (1/19 off four) — will be key if they are to advance. Add in the likes of opener George Munsey (S/R of 146.34, with an average of 25.9) and they have the nucleus of a solid side.

Speaking about the Netherlands, they have a good enough team to finish second behind Sri Lanka. Yet, it's not a dead cert that they will advance. In 2021, they embarrassed themselves, losing four wickets in as many balls. Their campaign ended even before it began. Having added the likes of Gary Kirsten and Dan Christian (one of the winningest T20 players in the format's history), there is a lot of local knowledge and coaching experience. Do they have the players to marry this knowledge and expertise of playing conditions with in-game nous and skills? They do have a combination of seamers with Paul van Meekeren (53 wickets) and Timm van der Gugten (41) leading the charge. They will keenly feel the absence of a lead spinner as a well as a powerplay basher. If they can overcome those two constraints, do not be surprised if they progress.

Another team that has similar strengths and weaknesses is Namibia, who had their best ever international series in the UAE in 2021. They do not have a good batting unit but their bowling, jeez. This time out, they have landed with as many as five left-arm seam-bowling options. With the angles, they can easily catch teams cold. On the bouncy pitches, that in itself can be a challenge. What could count in their favour is they do have a good recent record against fellow Associate members. So, if they beat the two fellow Associate teams, they will put themselves in pole position to advance.

One team who will be hoping for multiple miracles to advance is UAE. The conditions are alien to them as they haven't played in these sort of strips before (this will be their maiden T20I match in Oceania). The one positive they will carry into the tournament is they have had significant gametime, including four matches against full members. Two of those were wins against Ireland so they do have the players in their bow. It starts with opener Muhammad Waseem, who was impressive during his unbeaten 69 against West Indies in a warm-up game. In the bowling department, pacer Junaid Siddique can trouble a few batters.

There is also the prospect of the upcoming International League T20 to be played in UAE. Players can put themselves in the shop window. "The merit of the ILT20 to UAE cricketers themselves remains to be seen," Paul Radley, who covers the side for 'The National', a UAE based daily, told this daily. "Only one player per starting XI has to be from UAE, which is way down on other leagues. They need to prove they deserve more spots."

One thing Radley is sure of is the sea change the structure has undergone since they were last at the World Cup (2014). "The team is entirely different to what it was back in 2014, as is the cricket landscape in UAE. Back then, there were no central contracts and the players in the squad were cabin crew, students, receptionists and bank employees. Now the team is fully pro, and the structure underneath it functions far better in sustaining that."

Each of the four teams have lots riding on the three matches and while what denotes success is different to all of them, the World Cup, as far as the Associates are concerned, is a reminder of the inequality that exists.

RECORD OF ASSOCIATES IN T20IS IN 2022

Country	Played	Won	Lost	Record vs full-members
Namibia	8	5	3	3-2 (all vs Zimbabwe)
Netherlands	7	4	3	0-3 (1 vs Zimbabwe, 2 vs New Zealand)
UAE	13	7	6	2-2 (2 wins vs Ireland, 2 losses vs Bangladesh)
Scotland	2	0	2	(both vs New Zealand)

ZIMBABWE

They have really good spinners in Sikander Raza and Ryan Burl, but have heavily relied on the former's resurgence with the bat through the year. If these two take apart the opponents, they will have a good first round.

IRELAND

If Namibia have left-arm seamers, Ireland have genuine wicket-taking fast bowlers. Mark Adair has shown what he is capable of through 2022. And if they can make use of the conditions and new ball movement, they might be in the game. But the problem lies in their batting department.

SCOTLAND

They defeated Bangladesh and made it to the second stages of the tournament in UAE. This time, however, it could be a lot harder for them to do the same. They have not had any opportunity to play conditions resembling Australia so far. They have some impactful bowlers in Josh Davey and Mark Watt but it might not be enough.

Mumbai City FC get better of Odisha in ISL

MUMBAI: Mumbai City FC notched a 2-0 win over Odisha FC in a tightly contested affair in the Indian Super League (ISL) at the Mumbai Football Arena in Mumbai. A Shubam Sarangi own goal and a 94th-minute Bipin Singh strike were enough to secure all three points for the Islanders. Mumbai will face Jamshed FC next on Saturday.

Rosy rewrites women's pole vault

BENGALURU: Tamil Nadu's Rosy Meena Paulraj shattered the national record for women's pole vault for the second time in 15 days when she cleared 4.21m to win the gold medal at the National Open athletics championships here on Saturday. Rosy, who turns 25 in a fortnight, lit up the opening day with another sensational performance.

Close miss for pistol shooter Shiva

ENS @Chennai

AFTER a cracking performance by teenager Rudrankksh B Patil in the ongoing ISSF World Championship in Cairo on Friday, the focus turned to pistol shooters on Saturday.

With two quota events (10m air pistol — both men and women) lined up, it was time for the likes of Shiva Narwal and Rhythm Sangwan to step up. The former did well to get past the qualification hurdle, which meant he was one step closer to the Olympic quota. However, in an eight-man ranking match, Shiva got off to a slow start and never recovered, eventually becoming the first one to get knocked out. The top-four shooters had the opportunity to earn a quota.

Credit must also go to Naveen, the other Indian in the competition, who just missed out after finishing ninth during the qualification stage. Vijayveer Sidhu, the third Indian entry, finished 19th.

In the women's side, Sangwan also got off to an average start and could not find her bearing. She eventually finished 17th. Yuvika Tomar and Palak, the other Indians in the fray, finished 25th and 50th, respectively.

Udhayveer sizzles

While the seniors drew blanks, Udhayveer Sidhu had a memorable day as won both the junior men's 25m and standard pistol titles. Esha Singh, competing in the junior women's 25m pistol event, put up an emphatic performance to finish with a gold medal around her neck. She finished fourth in the qualification round and then went on to finish second in the Ranking match to be part of four-women medal match. She had saved the best for last.

India also won two bronze medals through Sameer (men's standard pistol) and Tejaswini (women's 25m standard pistol).

Clash of heavyweights

Three of the biggest club fixtures across Europe takes place on Sunday. A look at the matches and what's at stake...

PREMIER LEAGUE
Liverpool vs Man City

For the last four or five seasons, this was a title decider. This year, not so much. The Reds are adrift and unsure of themselves while the defending champions, super-powered by a Norwegian goal-scoring bot, Erling Haaland, are going from strength to strength. Even if the game is at Anfield, Pep Guardiola's men will believe they can win. Mo Salah, fresh after a hat-trick in midweek, will be seeking to discover some form after a below average start to the season.

15 Haaland has already scored 15 goals in the Premier League this season.

LA LIGA: Real Madrid vs Barcelona

In Europe, the Catalans have been suspect. In Spain, they have been a gun outfit, conceding just once and winning seven of the first games. However, Real have an identical record. While they haven't made the eye-catching signings, the evergreen members of their side continue to bloom. The one big blow for the hosts is that goalkeeper Thibaut Courtois has been ruled out. Barca will look to the likes of Robert Lewandowski and Raphinha to take advantage.

8 The two clubs, between them, have conceded only eight goals in 16 games.

LIGUE UN: PSG vs Marseille

Known as Le Classique, there will be added attention to this match after increased speculation with respect to Kylian Mbappe's immediate future. It's now believed that he wants to leave the Parisiens. Marseille, third in the table three points behind, will hope to take advantage of the uncertainty that currently exists. But Lionel Messi, after an iffy first season, has been purring on all cylinders.

12 Lionel Messi has 12 goal involvements in nine Ligue Un appearances (five goals, seven assists).

Mandhana, Renuka shine as India seal 7th Asia Cup title

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Chennai

IT was always expected to be a comfortable victory for India. Unless their skipper Chamari Athapaththu went berserk with the bat, the Lankans had very little chance on the slow surface that was on offer in the final of the Asia Cup in Bangladesh. But once she was run out early, the match was going only one way.

Deepti Sharma planted the seeds of doubts early on with the new ball before seamer Renuka Thakur took charge. The seamer — not amongst wickets on turning conditions — adjusted well and used the change of pace well to finish with three wickets for just five runs as Sri Lanka were reduced to 16/5. From thereon, they scrapped their way to 65/9 in 20 overs.

India's Renuka Singh Thakur celebrates after taking a wicket on Saturday | ACC

Despite losing Shafali Verma and Jemimah Rodrigues early, India had no trouble. Smriti Mandhana hit an unbeaten 25-ball 51 to take them across the line in 8.3 overs as India won their seventh Asia Cup title with eight wickets to spare.

Jemimah Rodrigues and Deepti were the biggest highlights for India. While the former scored 217 runs, Deepti accounted for 93 runs and 13 wickets. India do not have any international assignment for the next 45 days. Some of the players — Jemimah, Pooja Vastrakar and Harmanpreet Kaur — will be travelling to Australia for the Women's Big Bash League. Meanwhile the rest, except for Mandhana who might be opting to rest, could join their respective domestic sides for the ongoing senior women's T20 trophy before the group stages come to an end.

Brief scores: Sri Lanka 65/9 in 20 ovs (Renuka 3/5) lost to India 71/2 in 8.3 ovs (Mandhana 51 n.o).
